

All Bundled Up For The Season

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY—Maybe so, but not for the nation's postmen (or women). Daly City's own female carrier, Miss Laura Mezirka, smiles through her load of packages as the Christmas mail crush begins. This year the Daly City post office expects to handle some 3.2 million pieces of mail, including the delivery to local residents of almost 40,000 packages, according to postmaster Vince Murphy. Knowles Station

D.C.'s Council Agrees With BARTD's Proposal

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Except for some "minor technical language," the Daly City council has agreed with the latest package proposal offered them for the Bay Area Rapid Transit station on Knowles Avenue.

This language barrier is expected to be worked out before the end of this week, city attorney Albert Polonsky informed the council Monday.

The first reading of the proposed agreement will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the council chambers at city hall.

In its final push, the Daly City council had insisted on an expanded parking facility for the terminus station — and BARTD topped the spaces from some 600 to 810 with the understanding that efforts would be made to expand it further if funds become available.

One BARTD official readily admitted that "if Daly City hadn't fought so hard, we would have held back" on construction of the bigger parking lot.

But Daly City lost on two minor fronts: An overpass at Knowles and a firm promise that BARTD would not participate in any extension southward without the specific approval of the city.

Since the rapid transit district tried to shoulder their way into the city with what officials called a "hideous" elevated station some three years ago, Daly City has whittled, yelled, threatened and cajoled the state decreed district into making numerous changes in not only the station design, but the surrounding environment.

The district removed 176 private homes from the tax rolls in the area although the city fought tooth and nail through then-city attorney Paul Huff to keep them out of the county.

BARTD has paid the city and county a "replacement" fee of several thousand dollars per month to ease the loss of the dwelling taxes, however.

For months neither side would yield in their stand on what type station would be constructed in Daly City.

Matter-of-fact, for months communications between the two failed and BARTD maintained its "take it or leave it" attitude.

Not until some four months ago — as the fire crept closer (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

SSF Captain To Conduct Chief Exams

South San Francisco councilmen Monday night agreed to hire San Francisco Police Captain William Conroy for the purpose of conducting the examinations for chief of police.

Deadline for applications to fill the position vacated by John Fabbri is Friday. It is anticipated that police chief exams can be given by mid-January.

TEACHER RAPS COUNCIL

'Provocative' S.S.F. Lecture

By BOB PETERSON

He is a high school civics teacher in Daly City, but Dion DuBois Monday night gave probably his most provocative lecture ever — to the South San Francisco councilmen.

DuBois, a South San Francisco resident, spoke following an unorthodox move by Councilman Andrew Rocca that kept the controversial rezoning issue in the Westborough-West Park planned community very much alive.

Aimed not only at Rocca, but Councilman Patrick Ahern and Mayor Frank Bertucelli who voted along with the elder councilman to refer the matter back to the planning commissioners and city staff, DuBois said:

"By your action, you have just shown one of the major failings of local government. You have delayed decisions. You have once again made an issue most vulnerable by putting it back into the hands of special interest groups and lobbyists.

"You have shown your inability to handle a delicate situation," said DuBois. "But worst of all, you have fostered frustration, anger and hostility. You show a confusion of interests. Be honest about that. What's more, I believe you are wrong (about the decision)."

DuBois, who lives at 2217 Delvin Way, was but one of a houseful of Westborough residents. And if DuBois was instructor for the night, his neighbors were the placard waving student dissidents.

Evident from the time they started filling up the council chamber were such poster slogans as: "No Rezoning," "Stop Callan Now," "Don't Sell Us Out," "We've Got Gas Pains," and "Dump the Pumps."

By Monday afternoon the number of petitions against rezoning a 2.1-acre parcel at the southwest corner of Callan Boulevard and King Drive from planned multiple family residential to planned community commercial reached 548.

At least a quarter of that number of homeowners were present and expressed in no uncertain terms their desire to prevent further commercialization of their neighborhood.

The petitions said it this way: "To allow for construction of another gas station, a hamburger stand and a speedie-mart type of store, not only exceeds boundaries of good planning, but certainly does not meet the requirements of a community need."

City Atty. John Noonan told the councilmen they had two alternatives; either to disapprove of the rezoning, or to approve it. And should they decide to approve it, they must continue the matter to the planning commissioners for their study and decision as to whether they want to alter the city's master plan to incorporate the additional commercial zoning.

This addendum is what Rocca launched onto for the third alternative, due to what he considered a technicality. He said, after listening to Noonan, that the matter has not properly been referred to the council. He wanted the matter referred back to the city staff and planning commissioners for clarification.

Like Rocca, Councilman Ahern said he "feels the planning commission wasn't fully informed. I thought we would either approve or disapprove and be done with it." Mayor Bertucelli gave no reason for his vote.

City Planner Dan Pass, who had to clarify his dual role as secretary of the planning commission, versus that of being city planner, to Councilman Rocca, said:

"Neither the neighborhood, nor the entire community needs the additional (commercial) acreage. The planning department recommends denial (of the request)."

'COLLISION COURSE' NOTED

Rift Between SSF Teachers, District Might Bring Strike

By JEREMY ROBINSON

If Monday night's Board of Education meeting was any indication, the South San Francisco Unified School District Board and teachers are on a collision course which may result in a teacher strike May 1.

The main issues in the dispute seem to be salary, fringe benefits and what might be termed "teacher professionalism." The districts' alleged lack of recognition of the last quality was responsible for the S.S.F. unit of the California Teachers Association's request for sanctions against the school district by its state parent organization. That was last June.

Two weeks ago, the S.S.F. American Federation of Teachers, which represents about one-sixth of the local teachers, authorized its delegates to the S.M. Labor Council to seek strike sanction.

Monday, local C.T.A. President Bob Damico asked for, and got, a policy passed by the board which calls for negotiations to be concluded by May 1. But there was some disagreement over how to interpret that policy.

Board members argued that passing the policy might hurt the teachers' cause by only offering them money the district had available by May 1, which in effect might mean a smaller percentage raise than any of the nearby districts get. They noted that the teacher salary offer would depend on actions of the state legislature.

But C.T.A. spokesman Damico, who is also chairman of the teacher's negotiating council, pointed out that teachers required some notification as to contract agreement before deciding either to seek another position elsewhere, change careers, assignments, etc.

Board member Dr. Bill Stormer contended that the policy agreement itself meant little if it were open to so many different interpretations.

Damico said teachers had requested the policy so that their needs could be taken care of first.

But teachers attending the meeting commented afterward that if the policy meant that they would only be offered a two-per cent wage increase, in

May there would almost certainly be a strike.

Teacher grievances have been piling up for some time. One high school teacher said there was much talk among teachers about their comparatively low (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

S.S.F. 'Serves Notice'

Funds Budgeted To Fight Airport 'Noise Pollution'

Using a resolution as the vehicle, South San Francisco councilmen have put San Francisco International Airport authorities on notice that the city intends to combat noise pollution. They set up a $2,000 budget for this purpose.

City officials already have made public an extensive noise level report concerning jet aircraft takeoff and landing patterns over the city.

The resolution reaffirms the city's position that it feels these takeoff and landing patterns "represent a serious intrusion detrimental to the health and welfare of the city."

Aircraft operators and the Federal Aviation Agency as well as the airport authorities, were singled out in the resolution.

Councilman Frank Mammimi was appointed chairman of the city's new Jet Committee, which will undertake the necessary programs to effect a reduction in the noise level.

The councilmen are keeping an eye peeled on efforts of a similar fight launched by the city of Inglewood, Calif. It is in the path of takeoff and landings for Los Angeles International Airport.

Inglewood officials are sending a copy of a comprehensive noise ordinance they have prepared. It is "comprehensive" according to City Manager Tom McKenzie, because a previous ordinance citing just jet noise as undesirable was termed discriminatory as to type of noise.

"Inglewood, incidentally, has a noise abatement budget of $200,000," said Mammimi.

The councilman stated further that the South San Francisco officials will hold a public meeting (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

County Study Of S. Bruno Swim Pool

A request by the San Bruno City Council that the county place its Olympic swimming pool in San Bruno rather than at Coyote Point in San Mateo was scheduled to be considered by the County Board of Supervisors today.

On the agenda is a letter from City Manager Gerard S. Vergee reporting on action taken by the council last week requesting an indoor 50-meter swimming pool in the Pacific Heights district near the Skyline campus of College of San Mateo.

Vergee said there is an "urgent need" for indoor recreation facilities in the North County.

"As you know," the letter states, "there are school grounds available and arrangements may be worked out with the junior college to accommodate this type of a facility."

San Bruno's Hot Lunches To Continue

San Bruno Park Elementary School District's hot lunch program will be continued, at least until March, when a survey of public sentiment on the matter is expected to be completed.

Trustees made the decision before a packed house Monday night, following the recommendation of the San Bruno Park P.T.A. Coordinating Committee, presented by Margaret Chirio.

In the meantime, it has been learned that the financial picture that has surrounded the cafeteria program, somewhat bleakly, has improved.

Administrators presented trustees, and a large delegation of teachers and cafeteria workers, this week with figures that indicated a loss of but $3,214 during the first months of the new term.

However, the same period last (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Daly City Boost For Water Plan

The proposed Peninsula Water Agency primarily established to deal with San Francisco in providing water to the Peninsula received a conditional boost from Daly City Monday.

In effect the north county city informed San Carlos Mayor Tom Jenkins, chairman of the county water agency subcommittee, that it would go along with planning of the regional-type water agency, but reserved the right to pull out if they found the agency structure disagreeable in the future.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett, speaking on behalf of the council, informed Jenkins it would require further discussing before Daly City plunged all the way into the water agency.

At the outset, proponents of the agency expressed hope that all 32 water districts operating on the Peninsula would join to (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

'Operation Santa Claus'

Spreading Yule's True Meaning

For the past 19 years "Operation Santa Claus" has spread the true meaning of Christmas to thousands of children in the Daly City area.

Good will towards others. Thanks to the untiring efforts and generosity of many residents the otherwise bleakness of the holiday season has been erased.

Peter J. Markovich and Ken Colvin, co-chairmen of the annual event, are reminding all those interested in this campaign that the time to give is now.

This year, when many families in Daly City sit down to their fat turkeys and trimmings, there will be those who will have nothing to sit down to.

And the crinkle of wrapping paper will not be heard by little children in a number of local homes.

Last year "Santa" made the season merry for 156 families (497 youngsters) with a new toy for each child and a large basket of food, plus a plump turkey.

Most recipients were unable to express their joy, and many preferred to glance away from the deliverer.

But through a unique coded delivery system — known only to Markovich and Colvin — the recipients' names are never known.

"There is one thing our organization is most careful about," Markovich explained. "That is, we never use names, we use numbers to eliminate the stigma of the poor."

Children have no knowledge of where the food and toys come from. As far as they're concerned the man at the door with a smile, a

The difference among S.F.'s is the service they offer. Colonial has a heritage of service. All Colonial offices are dedicated to their communities. Most have been a part of their towns and neighborhoods for many years — so the people they serve are friends. Daly City Votes Conditional Link With New Peninsula Water Agency to balk at having the same voting power in the vast agency as smaller districts.

For one thing, Daly City has its own wells and can get along fairly well without the Hetchy water while smaller districts concerned with retail water sales, and depend solely on this system, would enjoy the same voting powers.

Bill Chapman, member of the County Water Advisory Committee, pointed out during the lengthy discussion on the water matter that the new agency "must crawl before we can walk."

One thing the joint meeting agreed upon was the fact that "everyone must play the game." If the agency is to be a success, the Peninsula water districts—scattered up and down the county—have in the past dealt with San Francisco individually in most cases.

County and city officials fear San Francisco can literally "turn off their water." If consumption increases to a point where the Hetchy system can no longer supply the demand.

Legally, San Francisco doesn't have to supply the Peninsula any more water than they have to, the council was told.

An expansion plan for the system will cost an estimated $138 million, of which $90 million will come from the Peninsula, Jenkins said.

DC's Operation Santa Claus: Spreading Yule Meaning

(Continued From Page 1) doesn't glow as it once did in years past as they fight to keep their family together. Misfortune knows no race, color or creed. And it doesn't come and go with the date on the calendar. It can reach out and strike anyone: illness, injury, unemployment and death all contribute to this unpleasant circumstance.

For this reason many fine people annually band together to help in making this season a joyous one for those so affected. The ranks are open and all those who would like to join in are indeed welcome, Markovich said.

"In the hearts of all, I am certain, the joy of Christmas will be doubled by sharing with these unfortunate ones, and the happiness your devotion creates will bring you a wealth of peace and contentment," Markovich said.

In his letter Vergeer pointed out that the Pacific Heights site would be accessible to freeways and that the college parking facilities could be used.

He said the failure of the CSM bond issue in the last election, which would have provided funds for a pool at the Skyline campus, "leaves a void which can be filled" by county action.

"The proximity of the area proposed to the Skyline College campus makes a facility at this location easily accessible for college student programs," Vergeer added.

He suggested that funds the college would have used for maintenance and operation of the Skyline pool could be applied to the operation of the Pacific Heights pool.

"It would further appear," Vergeer said, "that similar county funds for the maintenance and operation of the planned 50-meter pool could be applied to the Pacific Heights swim center. We believe that the governmental agencies involved could work out a program at a tremendous saving to the taxpayers of our city and county and accelerate this recreational opportunity to the college and North County residents."

Another teacher said that they had been offered a dental plan starting in February which now is apparently being withdrawn.

AFT President Bob Gehl addressed the administrators on the "discipline problem" in the schools which an AFT handout described was the "chief source of discontent and dismay in teachers."

Gehl said that "You will never have any significant number of good teachers in the schools so long as you force them to engage in amateur baby-sitting, amateur child counseling and amateur child psychology."

"A small minority of juveniles," he said, "commit small acts of non-disruptive delinquency and it's tolerated by the public-relations minded front office in every school to the point where the average teacher is exasperated."

As a result, he observed, teachers quit, and-or have their energy spent attempting to control classroom incidents.

What he requested on behalf of the AFT was the distribution of suspension forms by the district by which a teacher alone may suspend a student under Code 10, Section 601 of state law.

Along with distribution, he asked that the board publish a list of the number of student suspensions and the reasons each month.

The board also voted in executive session to extend the four-year contract of Dr. Nielsen as Superintendent.

year saw a deficit of $9,810 in cafeteria operation.

Last year's total dripped in red ink: $30,000, and trustees became concerned during budget sessions. They continued to fund the cafeteria program pending an evaluation, to be presented to the Board of Trustees in January.

As a result of this week's decision to initiate a community survey, the January session has been called off.

In other business, the trustees heard a request from Grover Cleveland, who wants the administration to establish a policy that spells out political and social objectives in the classrooms.

Nothing he represented a "group of fathers" interested in the San Bruno Park education process and willing to assist Cleveland related instances of concern about teachers who wore armbands during recent Vietnam moratoriums; comments about public officials in the classroom; and an insistence that "both sides" of issues be presented in the classroom.

Several persons in the audience were there to listen to discussion on district regulations for visiting classroom speakers.

Among the controls sought, according to Supt. George Lawrey's office, are greater screening of speakers, parent notification of kindergarten through eighth grade speakers and copies of intended speeches.

the city will be informed as soon as possible as to approval.

In addition to the federal assistance, McKenzie is hoping to get county aid of one-quarter of the purchase price, leaving the city with only 25 per cent of the cost.

"The county hasn't given any definite answer," said McKenzie. "But there's a very good possibility the county may come through." The city's portion of the payment would come from sales tax revenue.

Mckenzie indicated to Mayor Frank Bertucelli that there was enough money in city coffers to purchase the property if the city failed to get the anticipated assistance.

FDR Program Bake Sale Set Tonight

At 7:30 p.m. today in the Franklin D. Roosevelt multi-use room, located at 1200 Skyline Drive, the P-TA and music department will present the fourth annual Christmas program and bake sale.

The music department will start the program and two second grade classes will present a play to the audience.

After the entertainment is over, home baked items will be on sale. This is the P-TA's largest money making venture of the year. Room mothers have been busy contacting every mother in their rooms and asking them to donate an item. A team of P-TA workers headed by Ways and Means Chairman Mary Lou Snyder will spend the morning wrapping the items attractively and setting them up for sale in the multi-use room.

Individual items will be available for sale to be eaten there and coffee will be served free.

ing on the jet noise problem sometime in January.

He also said that it was the intent of the city to become members of a new national anti-aircraft noise association.

It is called, appropriately, NOISE, National Organization to Insure Sound-controlled Environment. The intent of NOISE is to make enough verbal noise about aircraft noise in the nation's capital to insure a reduction of the aircraft noise for the many hundreds of noise-plagued communities.

According to a publication of the Town-Village Aircraft Safety and Noise Abatement Committee in Lawrence, N.Y., representatives from 23 states met in Washington, D.C. in early October for the purpose of establishing this national alliance.

The meeting was co-sponsored by New York Hempstead Town President Supervisor, Ralph G. Case, and Mayor William Goelke of Inglewood, Calif. The keynote speaker was Senator Mark Hatfield, and "the proceedings were closely observed by many congressmen in person or through their aides."

Benny's 'Bird' Found In D.C.

A San Francisco police detective said that the bird of marble found by a Daly City patrolman Tuesday "obviously" is the missing Benny Bufano statue, "Bird in Repose," pried from its heavy base at the Alcoa Building Plaza December 7.

In announcing the discovery of the 100-pound sculpture, Daly City police Wednesday said they "believed" it to be the missing Bufano creation.

Bufano had been unavailable for comment last week and San Francisco detectives said today he had not yet shown up at the Hall of Justice to make a positive identification.

The rust-colored bird statue is now in the police department's property room. It matches the description and colored photographs of the missing work, the value of which reportedly has $50,000, authorities said.

Daly City patrolman Paul Westlund found the statue near the Jefferson Elementary District administrative offices.

Busy Year For D.C. Chamber

It looks like a busy year ahead for the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce under the leadership of newly elected president Don Halverson.

At his first directors' meeting since taking over the post, Halverson, Thursday, named 16 committees to study everything from signs to schools.

Busiest committee will be the Community Betterment Committee, co-chaired by attorney Paul Huff and accountant Al Beloit.

It will be their task to tackle anything and everything that relates to betterment of Daly City. Halverson informed the 14-member committee, promising that a full outline of their objectives will be forthcoming.

Daly City Mayor Bernard "Bud" Lycett, meanwhile, reported that "it is now safe to say" that agreement has been reached with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District over design and construction of a terminus station in Daly City.

Except for a couple of legal points—which pose no barrier—the agreement is well on its way to being approved.

The "minor hangups" are over wording in the agreement dealing with extension of the system down the Peninsula, an overpass on Knowles, and ex-

Vandalism Expensive To District

Vandalism in the Laguna Salada Elementary School District from July 1 to September 30 cost at least $4,406, Superintendent James Brien reported to trustees last week.

The superintendent summarized the district's vandalism in a special, detailed report that listed damage, and the monetary losses, at each of the schools.

During the three-month period, the greatest loss was suffered to the Pacific Manor School, where 12 separate acts of vandalism was reported—including one spree in which 40 windows—$400 worth—were broken.

In all, the Manor School damage was set at $1,179.

In nearly 75 instances of vandalism, spread not too evenly among the district's 15 schools, only three have been cleared through the apprehension of the culprits.

Vehicle Bids Are Approved

The Daly City City Council has approved awarding of bids for 19 new city vehicles, totaling $53,464.24.

Included are nine specially made police cars from the Daly City Chrysler-Plymouth company ($23,781.21); four sedans (four door) D.C. Chrysler-Plymouth ($10,003.90); one compact sedan from Ed Cordero Chevrolet, Pacifica ($1968.75); one station wagon, Ed Cordero Chevrolet ($2866.50); two half-ton pickups from Ed Cordero Chevrolet ($4306.90); one compact van from Ed Cordero Chevrolet ($2530.50); one four yard dump truck from Fairway Chevrolet, San Bruno ($7906.46).

Five motor companies entered into bidding on the vehicles: Arata Pontiac; D.C. Chrysler-Plymouth; Ed Cordero Chevrolet, Fairway Chevrolet, and S&C Motors.

Thief Caught By Patrolman

Daly City Policeman Wendell Barnes is "Johnny-on-the-spot" as far as a South San Francisco housewife is concerned.

She was walking along Mission Street about 10:30 p.m. Friday when a 16-year-old boy ran up, grabbed her purse and darted off.

Less than two minutes later the suspect was in custody and the victim—Virginia Wellsonford, 50, of South San Francisco—had her purse back.

Barnes was on patrol in the area when he spotted the incident and collared the unidentified youth before he had a chance to flee a block, according to a department spokesman.

The youth was sent to Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

A Curriculum Change Proposal

The Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees heard a report on a Career Opportunity Program (COP) December 9, which the high school principal said "could affect 500-700 students through change in the curriculum."

The report, which came at a study session of the District Board held at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica had the main drawback of being about a program for which the details are undecided yet, according to Board President Al Teglia.

Teglia had several questions about the federally financed $156,000 program, including, "If the Federal Government stops funding it, who will support it?"

As COP is projected, it will begin by involving approximately 20 students, six teachers and six interns attending local colleges on a federal grant.

The interns will be made up of GIs or economically disadvantaged who would not otherwise be able to attend college who will receive college credit for working with the students at Jefferson High School.

Counselor and Lab School Coordinator for Jefferson High School, Julieane Jansen, who presented the program with High School Principal Dr. Robert Bush, said that details of the experimental curriculum had yet to be worked out. Currently, she said the high school was in the middle of going through the paperwork applying for COP, and that they hoped if all goes well for summer session, a package deal would be approved.

In other developments, a leaflet from the Jefferson Union High School District Negotiating Council and signed by a Board representative was distributed announcing that March 1, 1970, would be the deadline.

representative was distributed announcing that March 1, 1970, would be the deadline.

Man Stabbed In Squabble

One San Francisco man was stabbed in the rear with a knife and another punched in the mouth during a squabble in front of the Geneva Drive-In Theatre in Daly City Dec. 10.

Authorities said the stabbing victim was Harry Hiltake, 21, of 697 Mission Street, who was wounded with a pen-knife, and James Redmon, 19, of 1 Blithedale, who took a blow from Hiltake's fist.

Police broke up the fight, the cause of which has not been explained. The investigation is continuing. No charges were filed.

Coast Youngsters' Reading Improving

Wednesday, Dec. 17, 1969 THE POST -5

Laguna Salada School District's youngsters have improved their reading over the last three years, based on comparative state-required tests, trustees of the Pacifica elementary system have learned.

Dist. Dupt. James R. Brien explained that during the past three years, "several changes have been adopted in the approach to teaching reading in Laguna Salada which may be responsible for the upward trend."

"Participation in the Miller-Unruh Reading Program, provided by the state, was cited as "the most important" change by the superintendent in a report filed with trustees last night.

The district also introduced, last year, a phono-visula program in grades one through three, and it provides teachers with a systematic phonics method to be included as a supplement to the basic reading program.

Brien also pointed out the district has twelve reading specials through the state's Miller-Unruh program, using state funds.

"They have helped both as remedial teachers and as resource persons to give leadership in teaching reading," Brien declared.

Another encouraging trend cited by Brien.

Fewer pupils are scoring in the lowest quartile (0-25 per cent) and more pupils are scoring in the highest quartile (75-100 per cent.).

"However," Brien acknowledged, "there still exists higher than expected performance of middle or average scores, which has been typical of the district for many years."

He said, "A three-year summary of the state-required tests in reading shows that the pupils of the Laguna Salada Union School District are improving as compared to the scores being reported for all the pupils of the state."

Brien pointed out that Laguna Salada pupils "still tend to score higher in grades two and three than in grade one."

In explanation, Brien asserted, "Local pupils apparently do not begin grade one at the same readiness level as their peers throughout the state."

The 1969 averages in grade two (49 per cent) and grade three (48 per cent) are almost at the normal level of expectancy, 50 per cent, for the state, he said.

"The progress of each class tested in the past three years shows an upward trend, when compared to the California norm," Brien said.

Those who started grade one in 1967 scored as follows: 1967, 41 per cent; 1968, 44 per cent; 1969, 48 per cent.

Those who started grade one in 1968 scored: 1968, 40 per cent; 1969, 49 per cent.

Those who were in grade two in 1967 scored: 1967, 43 per cent; 1968, 45 per cent.

Laguna Salada percentage in lowest quartile (25 per cent is the state average): grade one, 1967, 26 per cent; 1968, 25 per cent; 1969, 27 per cent; grade two, 1967, 30 per cent; 1968, 31 per cent; 1969, 23 per cent; grade three, 1967, no test; 1968, 28 per cent; 1969, 25 per cent.

Laguna Salada percentage in highest quartile (25 per cent is average): grade one, 1967, 16 per cent; 1968, 16 per cent; 1969, 19 per cent; grade two, 1967, 19 per cent; 1968, 18 per cent; 1969, 25 per cent; grade three, 1967, no test; 1968, 19 per cent; 1969, 21 per cent.

"The teachers, reading specialists and curriculum specialists have devoted much time and energy to developing the reading program of the district," Brien said. "These efforts are continuing and we hope the test scores will continue to show this improvement," he declared.

2nd Degree For Lopez

Two-time loser Carlos Lopez was convicted Thursday of second-degree murder and first-degree robbery for his part in the invasion of a Pacifica home and the beating of the elderly couple living there.

A jury of eight men and four women returned the verdicts at 2:30 p.m. after deliberating most of Thursday and Wednesday.

Resident Of Colma Wins Times Contest

A North County resident is the winner of a $100 daily prize in The Times "Lucky License" contest.

Laura A. Byrne, 423 A Street, Colma, received $75 when the Monday and Tuesday "Lucky License" prizes were not claimed and she received a $25 bonus for being a Times subscriber.

"Lucky License" will continue through the end of the year with daily cash prizes and a grand prize of $500 to be awarded to one of the daily cash prize winners.

Persons wishing to play "Lucky License" can obtain bumper strips at any of the four Times' offices in Daly City, Burlingame, Redwood City or San Mateo.

The jury found the 26-year-old Lopez not guilty of additional charges of burglary and aggravated assault.

Both of the counts of which he was found guilty carry prison sentences of five years to life. Superior Court Judge Allison M. Rouse scheduled arraignment for sentencing for 9 a.m. Monday.

In reaching the second-degree murder verdict, members of the jury said after the court session, they found that there was reasonable doubt that Lopez had taken part in the actual beating of the victims, Christian and May Pedersen.

Lopez testified during the trial that he had not intended to go into the Pedersen home at 165 Winon Avenue in Pacifica early in the morning of last June 20. He started to walk away, he said, when his partner, Clarence Galindo, armed himself with shears and said he was going to break into the house. Lopez told the jury that when he heard Mrs. Pedersen scream he ran into the house, pulled Galindo off of her and, in so doing, probably saved her life.

In his final argument to the jury Deputy District Attorney James L. Browning told the jurors that, even if they believed Lopez story, they should still convict him of murder in the second degree because Pedersen's death occurred during the commission of a felony—escape. Lopez and the 19-year-old Galindo were among the group of four prisoners who escaped from the San Francisco county jail west of San Bruno three days earlier.

Galindo is scheduled to stand trial on counts of murder, robbery, burglary and assault on January 5.

Lopez was defended during the two-week trial by Attorney George P. Eshoo.

A Hand Up For Cancer Patients

By MICHELLE CARTER

Only one who has been down the road can really tell it like it is.

Based on the truth of this statement, Mrs. J. K. Lasser of New York has built an international volunteer organization, "Reach to Recovery," which seeks to help women who are undergoing the trauma of a mastectomy, the loss of a breast to cancer.

In February, "Reach to Recovery" merged with the American Cancer Society, and Terese Lasser was in San Mateo County Monday and Tuesday to explain the program to new ACS volunteers in a workshop at the Thundebolt Hotel in Millbrae last week.

The story she related in the workshop sessions began 18 years ago when she underwent the removal of her breasts. "I needed help, and there was no where to turn. The program was born because the idea of stuffing sanitary napkins in my bra offended me so. That was the beginning, and I worked out my problems. I began to talk to other women with similar problems. Now hundreds of women across the country and in 37 other countries are doing the same thing — talking and offering help."

Volunteers in the "Reach to Recovery" program are all women who have undergone mastectomies themselves. They go into the hospital room to visit women after their surgery, only with the consent of the woman's surgeon. If he agrees, the volunteers bring with them special exercise equipment, a temporary prosthesis for the woman to wear until she can be fitted for a more permanent one and the reassuring voice of one who's been there.

The exercise equipment, always approved by the doctor, is a vital part of the recovery program. Breast surgery affects the muscles of the arm on that side of the body, and after surgery, any attempt to move the limb causes severe pain.

Only exercises will return normal, painless movement to the arm.

The volunteers, who are carefully screened by their own doctors, also have the answers to the emotional questions that the mastectomy patient will find it hard to suppress.

"The first questions a woman in this situation asks herself are 'Am I going to die?', 'How will my husband react to me physically?' and, if she is a single woman, 'Will a man ever look at me again?' We all have asked these questions ourselves, and we know most of the answers."

"The woman cannot ignore them. She must face them and answer them immediately, or they will linger in her thought forever."

The main purpose of the program is to make the patient realize "she is the same woman after surgery that she was before. Perhaps even better. She has more understanding, more appreciation of living, is more determined to make more of herself, more sympathetic with her family."

"She is a far better wife because she makes a tremendous effort to make herself more attractive... Maybe she was a little careless before, but now she extends herself and the man recognizes that he is needed. Maybe she has never told him that before."

One of the greatest needs of the organization now, according to Mrs. Lasser, is a group of young husbands of women who have undergone the operation, to come forward to talk with other husbands who face the trauma of mastectomy with their wives. She believes the greatest lift such a woman can have is the complete understanding and love of her husband. She must believe that he still considers her feminine and deserving of his attention.

Until her association with the American Cancer Society, Mrs. Lasser's story was told largely by word of mouth or by suggestion from doctors. Now the ACS will be able to provide a much wider distribution of information for the program, and for that, she is thankful.

Ironically, one of the major obstacles to the progress of the program in the past has been surgeons who fear that the volunteers will upset the emotional balance of their patients rather than strengthen it. Some doctors feel that non-medical persons cannot appreciate the delicate situation, but few doctors have anything to offer in the place of the reassurance the volunteers can provide.

Several of the volunteers at the workshop discussed their own recovery periods, and many had doctors who were hostile to the program. They had to work things out for themselves, for better or worse. Mrs. Lasser believes that the endorsement of the Cancer Society will help meet and overcome this obstacle.

Although the "Reach to Recovery" program is officially less than a year old in San Mateo, volunteers have been working informally within the ACS for about two years. The eight or nine volunteers talk to about two patients a month at the request of the attending surgeon.

One of the San Mateo volunteers, a registered nurse, underwent two mastectomies 10 and 15 years ago. Her involvement with the ACS is special in that she became aware of her condition only after seeing a Cancer Society film at a P-TA meeting 15 years ago.

"Even after I saw the film and decided to go to a doctor about the lump I had found, I had to go to three different ones before one thought it was serious enough to be concerned. Most women don't want to follow it up after one doctor says not to worry. I can only urge them to keep going until they are completely satisfied that there is nothing to worry about."

The "Reach to Recovery" program is on its feet in San Mateo now, and further information about the program is available from the ACS office, 1517 South B Street, San Mateo. The help of women who have been the route and would like to assist other women faced with the same journey is always needed.

The program is especially significant in the light of the fact that more mastectomies are performed in California than any other state.

Small Group Pickets School

A small group of Pacificans picketed the Vallemar School Sunday afternoon to protest cancellation by authorities of the scheduled "moratorium fair," police said.

The "fair" had been scheduled from 2-5 p.m. by a group calling itself "Pacific Citizens Against the War in Vietnam," the Laguna Salada School District James Brien informed the group it could not use Vallemar School facilities.

Additionally, police feared the "fair" crowd might get too large and out of hand.

The group has charged the "rights of free speech and assembly have been abridged" by revocation of the use permit at Vallemar School.

Sponsors of the affair and the Lee rock group called the reasons given by Brien "superficial and evasive," and they thought the "real reason" for the cancellation was the stated "fear that the fair would bring a flood of Hell's Angels into Pacifica."

Brien, in a letter to sponsors Friday, said the affair could not be held in the building, because the group, he said, had inadequate insurance to protect the school's property, that attendance estimates were too low, that the request for permit should have been more accurately called a "Rock Fair" rather than a "Moratorium Fair."

Three rock bands reportedly were to be present, attracting more than the 100 teen-agers and 150 adults the sponsors estimated.

The authorities noted that one of the rock bands had a following of Hell's Angels, a group that raised havoc on a Pacifica beach last year.

Eschewing other valuables, the only things taken were three ladies' rings valued at $800, one man's watch valued at $50.

For Two Weeks

DC Moratorium
On Book Fines

A two-week moratorium on fines, stretching from December 20 to January 3, was announced by Daly City public librarian Samuel Chandler.

"No fines will be collected upon the return of any book or any other item belonging to the Daly City Public Library," said Chandler.

"It is hoped that this measure will promote the return of many useful and valuable books," he added.

Books and phonograph records are among the many types of material the city of Daly City provides for its residents.

"Most borrowers appreciate this service," Chandler reported, "however some people keep the things they have borrowed longer than the time permitted and some people never return the materials that have been purchased for the use and enjoyment of all the people."

Book return slots are provided at each public library. Patrons may return books there. If the library is closed, the books may be slipped into book return slots located in or near the doors.

The hours of the John D. Daly branch are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Westlake branch is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and both libraries are open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

The Bayshore Library is open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday.

Pacifica
TEENS

The sounds of the "Glass Christmas" theme with the folklights will be featured at Oddstad Park on Friday night from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The dance will be centered around a Christmas theme with the following activities: dance contest, door prize, games, contests and refreshments.

The Northern J-Teens will have their Christmas Dance at Fairmont School on Friday night from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Sounds for the evening will be provided by an up-incoming group, "The Changing Times." Highlights of the evening will be a door prize, a dance contest, games, contests and refreshments.

The Southern J-Teens will be singing Christmas Carols through Linda Mar on December 22, from 7 to 9 p.m.

IS TODAY

A Christmas songfest begins tonight in Westlake Shopping Center and continues through Friday when the first of three outstanding choruses make their debut.

Tonight, at 7:30 p.m., Howard Loeffler, director of music at Westmoor High School, leads his 80 voice chorus in "songs of the season" on the Westlake Mall.

Tomorrow night Mrs. Lucille Sweeney leads her Jefferson High mixed glee clubs into the center for a series of Christmas Carols, to be followed Friday night by the San Francisco Salvation Army Band.

The various groups will perform each night at 7:30 o'clock.

'Christmas Is'
At T. Edison

The Thomas Edison P-TA will hold their annual Christmas Program on Thursday at 7:30 p.m., in the school's multi-use room.

Mrs. Joseph Schott, president, will hold a brief business meeting, after which parents and friends will be entertained by the Thomas Edison Orchestra, with Anita Jackson. Students grade one through six will present "Christmas Is."

M.P. Brown's
Yule Program

Parents of M. P. Brown School students have been invited to a Christmas program that will be presented by students of the school today 7:30 p.m.

"Songs from around the World" is the theme of the musical program, which will be held in the school's multi-use room. Scheduled to appear is the glee club.

Backyard Burning Ban

It will be against the law for "Twiggy" to get burned up for any reason after the first of the year.

We're speaking of those twigs that are pruned from trees and burned in backyards along with leaves and household rubbish.

On January 1, 1970 open burning of any sort — barbecues, recreational fires and fires set in fireplaces excepted — will be taboo.

The action was taken last year after Bay Area Air Pollution Control District experts determined these types of fire were responsible for contribu-

S.F. Girl Dies At Party

A 17-year-old San Francisco girl was pronounced dead on arrival at Alameda Emergency Hospital on Monday after apparently taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

The victim, Peggy O'Conner, left a note to her boyfriend saying she was taking her life because they were not suited for each other, a police spokesman said.

According to investigators, Miss O'Conner was attending a party at the home of her boyfriend, Stanley Mize, 22 at 73 Bellevue Street, Daly City.

Mize told police he found the girl unconscious about 4:15 a.m. this morning and tried to revive

When efforts to wake the girl failed, he called police, bundled her in his arms and carried her out of the house.

Police arriving at the scene found the victim lying across the hood of a parked car at the corner of Bellevue and Pope streets.

of commercially zoned land per half that population and six acres are zoned for commercial

Callan appeared to be the most effective antidote to the jabs in his direction. Callan traded barb for barb and at one time, sign for sign when he placed a placard on an easel for all to see.It's a sign that is used routinely on Thursday morning in the city hall chambers. It reads:
"Juvenile Traffic Court.""I believe the meeting is moving along quite well," said Callan, who has been trying to get the area rezoned for commercial use for four years now.Both sides appeared confident with the outcome, but Callan probably was as stunned by Rocca's move as the residents were bitterly upset about it.

Cap'n's Galley Features Wurlitzer Pipe Organ

For something entirely different in entertainment, hear the mighty Wurlitzer Theater Pipe Organ as played by Tom Hazleton, Ralph Trout III and Jack Gustafson at the new Redwood City Cap'n's Galley. This is great family entertainment, and it's featured six nights a week (Tuesday through Sunday). "Pizza 'n Pipes" is the theme here, with plenty of fun, entertainment and excitement. William Brewer is the owner of this new, successful operation. The Greeks have a gastronomic heritage that is among the oldest in the Western world. At the Balkan Village, authentic dishes include Moussaka (Baked meat with egg plant), Pastitsio (Meat baked in layers with macaroni, egg and cheese sauce), 10 wines of Greece, including Retsina and Mavrodaphne are served. Steaks and seafood available for American tastes. Pete Maglaras is the Greek-born chef who creates these authentic delicacies. Old world French-Continental dishes are served Tuesday through Sunday at Tino's in San Mateo. Your choice of soup or salad is included in the price of the main course, which could be seafood, veal, pasta (Cannelloni, Stigliara and Lasagne Pasticciata alla Tino being big favorites) and many other enticing dishes.

BARON'S ORGANIST—Margie Brandon didn't waste any time learning how to yodel when she recently visited the Swiss Alps. She flips the patrons of this Powell Street bistro by adding a little Nashville twang to her yodeling. Makes you want to sit up and listen.

Sam Marsalli Manager Bonanza Sirloin Pit

South City's Bonanza Sirloin Pit is featuring their regularly priced $1.59 Ribeye Steak Dinner as a Monday and Tuesday Special at 99 cents — and it comes under the heading of Great! The special, which includes a six and one-half ounce Ribeye steak, baked potato, choice of salad and Texas toast, is a limited time offer, so get with the show. Manager Sam Marsalli invites your patronage any day of the week for luncheon or dinner. Henry Doelger, a long-time friend of Bruno Fava and a steady dining patron of Bruno's restaurant in San Mateo, was a Friday night guest, along with a party of eight, and the Romans in their hey day never enjoyed such a feast. Here, you can enjoy superb cuisine amid the friendly atmosphere of Mediterranean decor. There is a wide selection of Italian specialties, thick steaks, and lobster cooked to perfection — all at popular prices. Operatic singers: do you have a yen to perform professionally, but just never thought seriously about the prospects of show biz? See the management of the Bocce Ball in North Beach — they're looking for new talent.

Tony Licata

Vince Licata's family has enough culinary and restaurant management talent within its fold to take care of restaurant operations in all departments. Vince and his two sons, Tony and Louis, are often seen performing the duties of others at their Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant in order to accommodate the overflow crowds which flock here. Nina Licata, the attractive wife of Vince, is ever ready to sit in for Mary Venturini at the cash register or help in the seating of guests. Mildred Rose is the hostess at the new Stardust Club in Burlingame. Lee Lambert is manager, and Kurt Gordon is featured pianist on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m. This is a swingin' spot. For delectable Ranch House-style BBQ Sandwiches with heaping portions of tender, thin-sliced roast beef, the Cattle Baron in San Mateo features just that for eat in or take out. Baked ham or turkey sandwiches are served on a Ranch House Sesame roll for only 79 cents. There are many surprises in store for you at the Princeton Inn, down El Granada way. Holiday parties ($6 per person), dinner-dancing Friday and Saturday nights, and fine Italian food served seven nights a week.

Perry's Smorgy Now Open—Join The Crowd

After almost a month and a half of extensive remodeling, Perry's Smorgy, the "help yourself" type restaurant located at 2817 El Camino Real in San Mateo (formerly the Black Angus), is now open, serving a huge selection of "all you can eat" entrees from the Help-yourself Buffet Table, the price of luncheon ($1.10) and dinner ($1.75) includes a choice of beverage, plus dessert. If you're travelling to Lake Tahoe, there's also a Perry's Smorgy conveniently located on the South Shore (just two blocks from Barney's Casino) . . . Diners at Torres' restaurant in Montara (near Half Moon Bay on the Coast Highway) are flabbergasted over the superb nocturnal view provided by the unique lighting system Frank and Fanny Torres have positioned to reflect out over the waters of the Pacific. . . . A perfect spot to enjoy leisurely cocktails, along with complimentary hors d'oeuvres, is the intimate cocktail lounge at Bill Varni's Owl 'n Turtle restaurant in San Francisco. Specialty of the house: complete gourmet dinners for only $2.35 per person. Inquire about their smart banquet rooms.

Al Williams and Nick Gust comprise the winning combination at the new Pacifica Papagayo Room. The zesty Mexican dishes are really something to rave about! Don't overlook the Combination Plate — it's one of the best Yours Truly has enjoyed in a long time. In conjunction with this colorful Mexican dinner house is a lively cocktail lounge, where the smart set meet before sitting down to dinner. Located on the level above the Papagayo Room is Nick Gust's all-nautical Moonraker, and just across the street is his popular Nick's seashore restaurant. All three restaurants afford a splendid view of the rolling surf, which is lighted by huge flood lights in the evening. . . . Friendliness, as well as food and beverages, is an attraction at Radcliffe's Steak House in Palo Alto. The Alfinia clan, including brothers Art, Harry, George and Rudy, greet you by first name and warmly welcome you to their restaurant. After a refreshment in their grotto-like cocktail lounge, you are escorted to the dining room for a charcoal-broiled steak prepared before your eyes. . . . The Inn of the Sixth Happiness has the most unique calendar for 1970. Their menu of Mandarin-style Group Dinners outline an Oriental picture in color. If you'd like the convenience of a 1970 calendar and a menu reminder in one, ask for your copy the next time you dine here.

Al Williams

Singing folk, ballads, and Country and Western songs, Hank Falconer, who has served singing hitches at the Senator Hotel in Sacramento and several Hawaiian spots, and his handy guitar entertain (Monday through Friday) from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the cocktail lounge of the Burlingame Hyatt House. . . . The Costa Brava, a unique, new restaurant with a specialty of steak and lobster, opened this week in San Francisco, just south of the Third Street overpass on Old Bayshore. Owned by Norman Elschelmann and managed by Joseph Ursino, the two-story building features two huge glass-lined dining rooms that take in a beautiful view of the San Francisco Bay. Charming waitresses clad in short Roman costumes cater to your order. A cozy center bar serves your favorite cocktails. . . . Hollywood stars often drop into the Sinaloa Mexican cantina in North Beach because it's an "IN" spot for nocturnal romping. Free Trees To Fight Erosion

By BOB PETERSON
You'd be surprised how many people want free trees. Not Christmas trees, either. San Bruno has been giving free pine trees to its residents for the past dozen years. "People really get with it when they find they're available," said Roy Davis, park superintendent. Davis, incidentally, has been at the root of this successful endeavor on the part of the city to combat slope erosion problems. It was some 12 years ago that the state division of highways sent out literature to all cities with erosion problems asking whether they'd be interested in purchasing seedlings. San Bruno officials realized the potential for land improvement if individual residents would take it upon themselves to landscape barren properties. They purchased seedlings and distributed them for three years. But, alas, due to lack of proper care many of the seedlings would dry out. Something had to be done.

And Davis had the answer. He took it upon himself to plant the seedlings in gallon cans and nurse them for a year with fertilizer before giving them away. And for the past nine years, the program (and trees) has bloomed. Cost to the city is approximately $1,000 a year. This doesn't include the work Davis puts into potting, watering and fertilizing the seedlings. "We give ten trees for the first orders," said Davis. Providing they go to residents, and these residents show a need, such as for landscaping or wind control. "Calls have come in from as far as Santa Clara," said Davis. "But we have to turn them down just like we turn down requests from Pacifica, Millbrae or Daly City." A set of planting instructions is issued, too. It tells how to cut the can. How much top soil to use. What watering or special care is required. And Davis checks to see if the residents are having problems, and to insure that the trees are planted from 12 to 15 feet apart.

"Every year we keep thinking the requests are going to diminish," said Davis. "But there's always more." He likes to tell of Mike Elmore ("now a young man"), of 2440 Whitman Way, who moved into the city when he was eight years old. Seems the young lad used to pick up trees yearly, regular as clock work. "He nourished and watered them every year," said Davis. "It was unusual to see the way a boy had become attracted to the growing. Most kids aren't thinking of trees, you know." He's not picking up any this year. But I'm sure he still loves trees.

If you're a San Bruno resident and need and want some trees, you better act fast.

ROOM FOR ANOTHER — Mrs. Marilyn Allain, of 125 Merced Drive, San Bruno, turns the turf to make room for a pine tree held by Roy Davis of the San Bruno Park Department. Mrs. Allain picked up 10 of the trees. They are being given to San Bruno residents free on request. (Post Photo)

We buy harder.

You can save up to $300 when you lease a new car from First Western Bank. It stands to reason that a $950 million bank that buys cars all year long can get a better deal than individuals who buy a new car every two or three years. Buying harder means bargaining power for people who have more important things to do than argue about the price of a car. It's also for people who dislike down payments and want to lease a car at low bank rates. But that's not all.

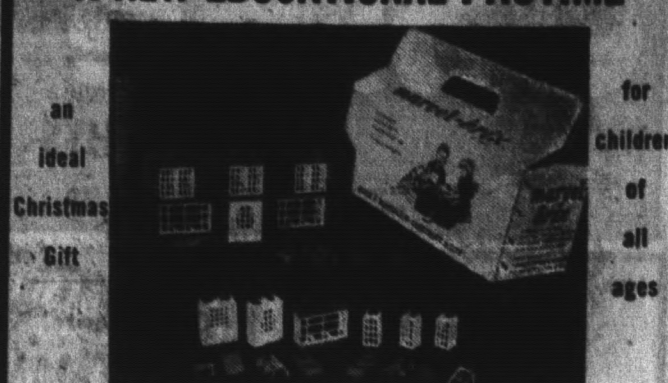

The money factory saves you money. We're the source of cash. There are no financial middlemen who want to slap on extra charges and there are no sales commissions to pay. This is why you can save up to $300 on a two-year lease.

Get free professional advice. Come in to any of the 90-plus offices of First Western Bank and get unbiased, financial facts about car leasing. If you decide you'd rather buy than lease, you'll still be talking to the right people. After all, our low interest car loans can save you money, too. And whether you lease a car from us or borrow the money to buy one, we'll still give you a free personal First Bancorleaving Account. That's a promise you can bank on.

TERRA NOVA

By Anne Dryden

Over 100 Terra Nova drama and humanities students spread Christmas cheer and merriment last week in Pacific elementary schools when they participated in TN's Third Annual Christmas Minstrel Troupe.

Dressed in the bright costumes of elves, gypsies, minstrels, acrobats, jesters and storybook characters, the energetic group circulated around primary grade classrooms of Sanchez, Linda Mar, and Crespi Schools. While jesters told jokes and played tricks, minstrels sang lovely Christmas ballads and acrobats astounded the children with their dexterity.

Tuesday, the Troupe, directed by TN drama teacher, David Campbell, entertained handicapped children at the Fleishacker Recreation Center in San Francisco and on Thursday they will visit with Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center.

TERRA NOVA CIVICS and economics students received free advice on automobile insurance policies when two representatives of California Casualty Insurance Company visited their classes.

Ed Patton and Lee Riley, both young executives of the firm, explained various kinds of insurance a person may buy, but dwelled on automobile insurance, as their audience consisted mainly of an insurance company's greatest risk—single males in the 16-18 age bracket.

Patton told the young driver's that their insurance rates could be reduced if they earned a Good Student Discount (with a B average or better), didn't drive a late-model car, and didn't own the car they drove.

He explained that the same coverage for girls in that age bracket is approximately one-third less because girl drivers aren't considered as great a risk to insurance companies.

This, Patton explained, is because girls drive less than boys and don't drive as often in the peak hours of the day and night.

MILLS GRAD

SAN ANTONIO — Airman David L. Taylor, son of Mrs. Betty L. Cooper, San Bruno, Calif., has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in aircraft maintenance. Airman Taylor is a 1969 graduate of Mills High School in Millbrae.

Serra High Parents Set Party Date

Mothers and fathers of Serra High School students already have set the date for their traditional Mardi Gras party. The date will be February 7 at the Le Baron Hotel in Burlingame, and the theme will be "Candlelight Ball."

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dianda of Hillsborough will serve as general chairmen with Mrs. Warren Gabrielli in charge of decorations. The Rev. Harold O'Donnell is honorary chairman, and the Rev. Loren Dwyer will be moderator.

Other Serra parents on the committee include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Heinen, San Carlos, reservations; Mrs. Neil Johnson, Millbrae, invitations; Mrs. Richard A. Murray, San Mateo, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fiske, Burlingame, hostesses; Mrs. Louis J. Boiteux, Hillsborough, secretary, and Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Loveseith, Millbrae, advisors.

They will be assisted by Mrs. Richard Burkhardt, San Mateo, Mothers' Auxiliary president; William Crosby, Burlingame, Fathers' Club president, and James Monahan, Redwood City, Fathers' Club moderator.

Caroling Program For Club

Mrs. Robert Goldberg will be installed as president of the Millbrae Newcomers' Club at their Christmas luncheon December 18 at Russo's Restaurant, 271 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Cocktails at 11:30 a.m. will be followed by luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The installation is planned immediately after the meal.

Other officers will include Mesdames Earl Gagnier, first vice president; Robert L. Henry, second vice president; Ted Larimer, secretary; Stephen Essaff, treasurer; Dewey Hinkley, publicity, and Bal Acconero, parliamentarian and historian.

Singers from the Newcomers and the Millbrae Clubs will present a program of Christmas carols.

Women who have lived in Millbrae less than one year and are interested in further information may contact Mrs. Henry Ascher.

Volunteers For Tutoring At Colma School Sought

At the Colma Intermediate School, a new community service is being implemented by the American Association of University Women in conjunction with the YWCA of San Mateo County and other groups and individuals to provide tutor volunteers to those teachers who request it.

It is hoped that this help to students on a "one-to-one basis" over a continuous period of time will help to bring the student up to grade level and open up lines of communication in this culturally diverse community, a YWCA director, Justine Williams, said.

There already are 25 students placed in the program and more tutors are urgently needed. One does not need a teaching background to participate. Persons who speak Spanish as well as English are especially needed, it was pointed out.

The YWCA office in Daly City is coordinating registrations.

South San Francisco Pair Wed At All Souls Church

THE MIKE MULLANS (Marlene Lyman)
(King's Photo)

Baskets of gladioli banked the altar of All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco for Saturday's marriage of Marlene Lyman and Mike Mullans.

The Rev. Louis J. Faccino read the vows for the afternoon ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Forest Lodge in San Francisco. They are honeymooning at the South Shore of Lake Tahoe and will live in Millbrae.

Marlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lyman of South San Francisco, was escorted to the altar by her father. She recited her vows in a white satin gown with pearl and lace detail. Her bouquet included white roses.

Three attendants gown in red velvet and white lace preceded Marlene to the altar. Nancy Selas was the maid of honor, and Judy Lyman and Marie McCauley were the bridesmaids. They carried white muffs with red rose corsages pinned on them.

Robert McGrew fulfilled the duties of the best man for Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mullans of South San Francisco. Ushers were Keith B. Lyman, brother of the bride, and Ronald Visneski.

Mrs. Lyman witnessed her daughter's wedding in a purple knit ensemble, and Mrs. Mullans chose a two-piece cherry pink suit. Both mothers pinned on orchids.

Marlene's traveling ensemble was a camel-colored pantsuit.

The couple both were graduated from South San Francisco High School. She is the sister of Marie, Elaine, Cheryl and Ralph Lyman, and he has a sister, Nancy Kesler.

AN APPREHENSIVE astronaut is Mrs. Joseph O'Gorman, assisted by Mrs. Norman Gehre, as she prepares for Our Lady of Mercy's New Year's Eve dance, The Last Splashdown of 1969, "Lunar Antics with Green Cheese and Moonshine," to be held in the parish hall on December 31 at 9 p.m. For reservations contact Mrs. Gehre or Mrs. O'Gorman.

Localites Hold Board Posts In Guardian Council

Lucy Warren of Pacifica was installed as grand guardian of the Grand Guardian Council of California of the International Order of Job's Daughters at the recent meeting in Santa Cruz.

Other county residents holding board positions are Mrs. Marion Wilken of South San Francisco, grand director of music and Irene Fox of South San Francisco and Lois Rickon of Belmont, deputy grand guardians.

A large contingent of Ruth Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, attended the installation.

DATEBOOK

Louanne Heath

MRS. JAMES CLIFFORD of St. Andrew's parish has announced that the committee in charge of the parish's New Year's Party is so pleased by the enthusiastic response to the announcement of the event that they have extended the ticket deadline.

Indications are that the event will be as big a success, if not bigger, than the delightful social held by the members earlier this fall. Mrs. Clifford, party co-chairman, reports. With the call for tickets continuing at a good pace the committee in charge has decided to accept reservations for a few more days so that no one will be disappointed. Mr. and Mrs. Al Thusen, Plaza 6-1787, are accepting calls for tickets. Reservations are $12.50 per person, Mrs. Clifford said.

Mrs. Richard Scrimaglia, with a helping hand from many willing souls, is going to transform the Daily City Memorial building into an elegant ballroom for New Year's eve.

She and her committee have toured the display warehouses and selected some very grand appearing gilt chandeliers to suspend from the ceiling and a Spanish style fountain will bubble in the center of the large dance area. Al Borelli and his band will provide the live music for dancing and Mrs. Clifford and her co-chairman, Mrs. Kathy Luhrs, have secured assorted party favors and arranged for a generous midnight buffet supper. Refreshments will be sold throughout the evening in one of the three rooms being used for the evening's festivities.

The celebration is planned for a twofold purpose. Naturally, Mrs. Clifford and her helpers hope that this will be a fun evening for all and, secondly, the proceeds will go towards the building fund.

St. Andrew's was established to serve the St. Francis Heights, Serramonte and Westlake Terraces sections of Daly City in September, 1968. Since that time Mass has been said in the multipurpose room of Daniel Webster elementary school.

Within the next few months the leaders and clergy of the parish hopes to be in a position that will enable the diocese to begin construction of the church on the lot at Southgate and Sullivan. Funds from the New Year's party are expected to do much to augment that building fund and speed the time when work can get under way, Mrs. Clifford said.

This Saturday is the date selected for the Veteran's Christmas party to be sponsored by the members of the Fifty Plus Club in Pacifica for the Veterans of World War I living in the Menlo Park Veteran's hospital.

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the senior citizens unit, members of the group hope to be able to give each man a dollar in a holiday folder so that he may have the fun of purchasing something of his own at the commissary.

Donations of candy and cookies and cupcakes are always distributed to the elderly gentlemen as are oranges. Mrs. Calhan notes that most of the men associate oranges and evergreens with the Christmases of their youth and are most grateful for the fruit.

The chartered bus going to the hospital is slated to leave the Pacifica City Hall at noon Saturday and club members, plus members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, are asked to remember to bring a snack for their lunch as it will be 3 p.m. before the group will be returning.

YOUNG CLARK MADROSEN will spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Madrosen of Westlake prior to his departure for Newfoundland where he has been assigned to the Air Force. His tour in the northern outpost is expected to last about twelve months.

THE ART GUILD of Pacifica will hold its annual Christmas party this evening at the Galway Inn in the Moss Beach section of the coastside city.

Member Gino Dianda has been in charge of the arrangements for the evening and he has reserved the entire restaurant for the dining and dancing enjoyment of the artists' group.

Among those with a special reason for good cheer are guild members Serop Vardanian and Sherman Hawkins. Vardanian received the Best of Show Award for Painting during the formal show earlier this month and Hawkins was awarded the Best of Show for Sculpture in the same exhibit.

Others honored by the team of judges were Luther Spraker for Best of Show and Crafts; Mrs. Diane Walden, first place in the graphics division; Mrs. Lillian Blackburn, first place in Mixed Media, and Mrs. Zella Buckingham and Robert Hulsebus, both honorable mention winners.

Yosemite and southern California were honeymoon destinations for Mr. and Mrs. Craig Deasy (Jo Ann Moos) who were married in a recent ceremony at St. Robert's Catholic Church in San Bruno. Jo Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moos of San Bruno, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Marjorie Deasy. They are at home in Burlingame. (Shively Photo)

Maria Legallet Is Wed In Thanksgiving Day Rites

The family reception which Mr. and Mrs. Paul Legallet gave on Sunday at their Hillsborough home honored their daughter, Maria, and her husband, Michael Schwalm.

The couple was married on Thanksgiving Day in Mendocino City and is now living in San Mateo. Mr. and Mrs. George Kewish (Theresa Legallet) accompanied the couple to Mendocino and were witnesses at the simple rites. Maria recited her vows in her

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

Where else but in Sugar and Spice can you find the combination of a recipe column and a mystery story in one? Last week's column was beautiful except for one question and that question was, "What do you do with the Cocoa Chews after you refrigerate them for one hour?" A mystery. Herein I will repeat the recipe with the solution to this puzzlement.

COCOA CHEWS

- 1 cup sugar
- 1-3 cup shortening, soft
- 1 egg
- 2-3 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1-3 cup milk
- 2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together the one cup sugar and one-third cup shortening until creamy. Blend in the egg. Sift together the two-thirds cup flour, one-third cup cocoa, and one-half teaspoon each soda and salt. Add half of the flour mixture to the creamed mixture; mix well. Add the one-third cup milk and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour mixture and blend thoroughly. Stir in the two cups oats and teaspoon vanilla. Refrigerate for about one hour.

Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Sprinkle with sifted confectioners' sugar if desired. Makes between 3 and 4 dozen.

This next recipe makes almost 10 dozen cookies. So you may want to halve it unless you plan to give some as gifts. These are very tasty, just full of fruit and nuts. In fact that's just what they are, candied fruit and nuts held together with the minimum amount of dough.

FRUIT DROP COOKIES

- 3 cups seedless raisins
- 1/2 cup whiskey
- 1 cup butter
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 4 cups nuts
- 1 1/2 cups diced mixed candied fruit
- 3 cups candied cherries

Soak the three cups raisins in the half cup whiskey for one hour. Cream the fourth cup butter with the half cup brown sugar. Add the two eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat until light and fluffy.

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon cloves. Add to creamed mixture. Mix until well blended.

Add the raisins (whiskey and all) four cups nuts, one and one-half cups candied fruit and three cups cherries... stir.

Drop from rounded teaspoon onto well greased cookie sheets. Bake 325-degrees for 15 to 18 minutes. Cool and store in closed containers. Makes 10 dozen.

Recently a reader asked if I would repeat the famous Red Velvet Cake at Christmas time. It is so suited for Christmas with its red color and fluffy white icing I'm grateful to her for reminding me.

This cake recipe came to me from Mrs. Renoa Noero who lives at 24 Westdale Avenue in Daly City.

RED VELVET CAKE

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons cocoa
- 2 ounces red food coloring (that's right, it's 2 one-ounce bottles)
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon soda

Cream together the one-half cup shortening, one and one-half cups sugar. Add the two eggs, one at a time and cream again. Combine the two teaspoons cocoa with the two ounces red food coloring and add to the creamed mixture.

Mix the teaspoon salt and teaspoon vanilla with the one cup buttermilk. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the two and one-half cups sifted cake flour. Blend well.

Combine the one and one-half teaspoons vinegar and one teaspoon soda and fold into batter. Do not beat.

Bake in two greased and floured 9-inch pans in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes or until cake tests done.

FROSTING

- 5 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine the five tablespoons flour and one cup milk in a saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. (And it really gets thick.) Cool until cold. Cream together the cup of butter and cup of sugar, add the teaspoon vanilla and mix well. Add to the cold flour mixture. Beat and beat until of a consistency to spread. When finished it looks like whipped cream.

NOTE: When you first combine the creamed mixture and flour mixture it looks awfully lumpy and curdy, but be brave. Beating works like magic and it truly ends up looking and tasting like whipped cream, only better.

Tryouts For New Staging By Spindrift

The Pacifica Spindrift Players will hold tryouts for their third production of the 1969-70 season December 21, at 2:30 p.m., December 23, at 8:30 p.m., December 26 at 2:30 p.m. and on December 30, at 7:30 p.m.

The Pulitzer Prize winning "A Delicate Balance" by Edward Albee will open a three weekend run starting February 20, 1970. Rod Clark, who was co-director of last season's success, "The Rainmaker" will return to direct this morality drama.

Two males and four females of mature age are needed to fill the roles of Albee's play which is being produced through special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc. of Hollywood.

The drama unfolds to reveal a plot of a man and woman whose marriage has drifted loose and who harbor the wife's alcoholic sister from the shocks of a bitter world.

They receive in one night both their daughter, who has come home after the wreck of her fourth marriage, and a couple who are their best friends and who have just had the shock of their life.

The couple moves in and locks the door; and before they finally leave, everyone in the family is made to face the reality of the same terror, to recognize how they have lost love, frittered it away, until they are at that delicate balance between sanity and madness.

The themes plumb the depths of their lives, to the reaches of despair, showing the disintegration of love by default, its perversion to self-love and indulgence, and the terror that comes at the recognition of one's own depravity, and from which there is no surcease from the same.

AT CHRISTMAS, there is joy... the singing of the seasonal songs, but they young and the elderly, the giving of gifts, the rounds of parties. And there's the work of getting ready for one Yuletide boutique or another, which—as Daly City youth (photo, above) Robert Marcus, Jeff Freedman and Keith Asyob and clubwomen Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mrs. Paul Huff and Mrs. John Hildebrand will agree—tends often to become a family affair. Cities Want A Voice In Transit Plan

The cities of the county, both north and south, should have a voice in any extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit Authority in the county, including a spur to the San Francisco International Airport. This was the feeling of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors Friday.

After the mayors' meeting in Menlo Park, noted that the Board of Supervisors Tuesday had gone on record as favoring legislation that would extend a line through Daly City to the San Francisco International Airport. Mayor Thomas M. Jenkins of San Carlos said that San Francisco must understand the cities of San Mateo County have a concern with plans of San Francisco here, and that local officials should be able to negotiate with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District for any lines that may extend here.

Councilman William R. Lawson of Menlo Park said all cities, including those in the south end of the county, have an interest in any future rapid transit system.

"One of the cities should be included in negotiations to inform other cities," Councilman Karney Barberian of San Bruno suggested.

Councilman John Rosselli of Redwood City, pointing out that two supervisors from the northern county (Robert S. Clair and James V. Fitzgerald) had been appointed to a committee to meet on the project, said, "This is a county wide thing. You must have north and south."

But, he agreed, the council should have no fear that St. Clair and Fitzgerald will not represent all the cities.

Councilman Herbert G. Peterson of Redwood City suggested that the county should negotiate for the "best deal" before any final decision is made with BART.

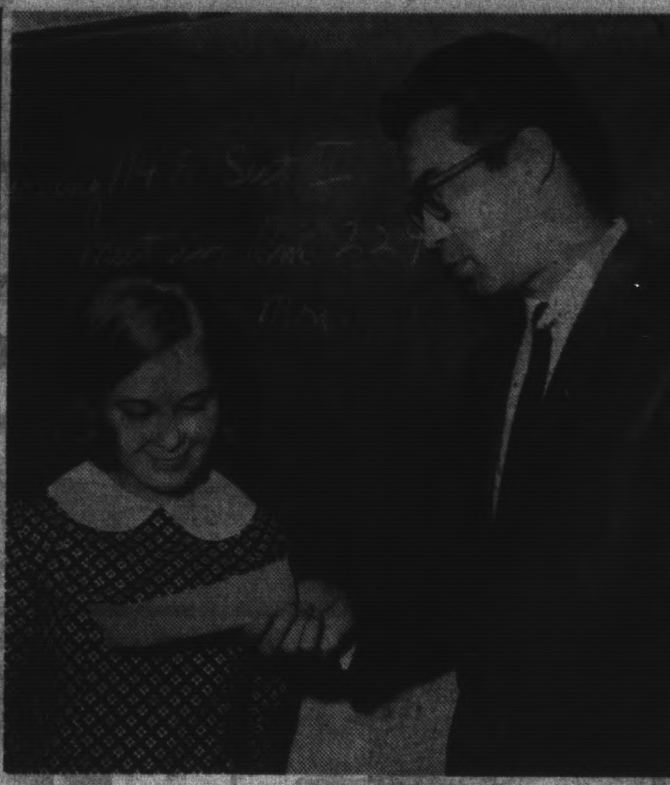

Lawson said more than the interests of the north county are involved, and suggested that the supervisors negotiate a joint powers agreement with BART.

He cited the possibility San Francisco might put in a line to the airport without stations in between, and asserted San Mateo County must be involved in any decision.

"It is simple as that," Lawson asserted. "It is not a local problem; it is a county problem."

The council agreed to take up at its next meeting a recommendation of the county Grand Jury that the county change its charter to have seven supervisors elected by districts.

Elected new chairman of the mayors' council was Jenkins of San Carlos, while Nick Gust of Pacifica was elected vice chairman.

JOANNE SCHABACKER, a student at the University of California School of Nursing, San Francisco, receives Allstate Foundation scholarship from Kurt Hanni, regional representative of the Foundation, who also is an agent at the Sears-Westlake store for Allstate Insurance. The Foundation inaugurated its scholarship program in 1959, in a move to combat the growing nurses' shortage, Hanni pointed out.

St. Paul's Methodist Displays Photo Exhibit

An exhibit of photographs of the work of the 12th Century Burgundian sculptor Gislebertus is on display at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in South San Francisco.

The large photos are of carvings done by the pioneering artist for the Cathedral of St. Lazare in Autun, France.

The carvings are for capitals and portals, and depict various aspects of the Christmas story. Gislebertus was a Burgundian sculptor who worked during the first half of the twelfth century, creating some of the most powerful works of Romanesque sculpture known. Although we know next to nothing about the life of Gislebertus, he is regarded as having made a profound contribution to the art of sculpture, and of having a major influence on subsequent works.

The exhibit is in the Fellowship Hall of the church, located at Miller and Spruce Avenues in South San Francisco, and will continue through the end of the month. Included along with the Gislebertus photographs are several prints of masterworks depicting the Christmas story.

Set Festive Table In Holiday Spirit For Pleasant Brunch

The winter season brings Christmas and New Year's Day, and, with these holidays, come many hours of happy hostessing.

Almost any occasion will spark a gathering of friends and relatives. Although these gatherings are traditionally held in the evenings, why not start the day with a festive mid-morning breakfast—the brunch?

A table set in an aura of holiday spirit can turn a basic breakfast menu into a meal fit for any gala occasion.

Turn the basic breakfast of milk, eggs and meat, fruit juice, bread, and coffee into a very special brunch by using some of the old, elegant, or unusual dishes from your cupboard.

Using anything from a large glass cylinder to an elegant antique soup tureen, a simple combination of milk and fruit flavoring can be turned into a special occasion drink, says Dairy Council of California. Call the combination a "Brunch Punch." Feature it in a favorite or unusual serving dish, and watch it star on the menu. This punch will give your family and guests that extra protein needed to keep them full of the holiday spirit all day.

Here is a basic brunch menu that will lend itself to your imagination. Build on it and make it as festive as you like:

A Special Breakfast For Children

Christmas morning is always an extra-special occasion in the eyes of the little ones.

To make their day complete, Dairy Council of California suggests a special breakfast, prepared with the children in mind, but pleasing to the whole family.

A good breakfast, enjoyed by everyone will give all the spirit as well as the energy to make the most out of any day, especially Christmas.

Because there will probably be a large meal later in the day, this breakfast should be light, but satisfying, and with sufficient protein. Hot Chocolate Eggnog will be the real "star" at this breakfast.

SUGGESTED MENU
Hot Chocolate Eggnog-x
Christmas Tree Shortcakes-x
Fruit Juice Coffee
HOT CHOCOLATE EGGNOG
1 quart dairy eggnog
2 cups milk
½ cup chocolate syrup
Mix eggnog, milk and chocolate syrup well. Heat. Makes 6 one-cup servings.

CHRISTMAS TREE SHORTCAKE
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup butter
¼ cup milk or cream
green colored sugar, raisins, cherries, pieces of dried fruit, or cinnamon candies.

Sift together the pre-sifted flour, and the baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in the butter with a pastry blender or two knives, until the mixture is of the consistency of coarse meal. Make a well in the center of this mixture. Pour milk or cream into the well. Stir lightly into the flour mixture, using a fork. Turn dough onto a floured board. Knead lightly for ½ minute. Cut with Christmas tree-shaped cookie cutter. If the cutter is not deep enough to cut through the dough, finish cutting with a floured knife. Brush the trees with milk and sprinkle with green colored sugar. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes. Decorate with raisins, cherries, dried fruit or cinnamon candies.

To color sugar—use ¼ cup granulated sugar, add a few drops of green food coloring. Stir.

General Store Revival Seen

American pioneers shopped at the general store where food, clothing, barbed wire, as well as other necessities were purchased. Today we seem to be moving toward a general store concept! Twenty-three cents of every dollar spent in the supermarket goes for such non-food items as household supplies, tobacco products, health and beauty aids, alcoholic beverages, soft drinks, pet products, housewares, clothing articles, reading materials and toys.

CONSUMPTION CLIMBS

A record average of 182.5 pounds of meat (beef, veal, pork and lamb) was consumed by each person in the United States in 1968.

Pineapple Juice Coffee
EGGS SCRAMBLED WITH SOUR CREAM
For six:
1 tablespoon butter
6-8 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
½ cup dairy sour cream
For two:
¼ cup butter
2-2½ dozen eggs

1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
1-1½ pints dairy sour cream
Melt butter in skillet over low heat. Beat eggs, add sour cream and seasonings. Pour into skillet and cook gently, stirring constantly, until they become thick. Serve hot accompanied by bacon and sausages. (To serve six, use ½ lb. bacon and ¼ lb. small link sausages.)

(To serve six, use ½ lb. bacon and 2 lbs. sausage.)
FLUFFY-FLAKY BISCUITS
Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Makes 16 to 18 biscuits.
2 cups sifted regular all purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
1 cup dairy sour cream
Butter, melted

In mixing bowl sift together flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Using pastry blender or 2 knives, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Blend in sour cream until dough clings together. On lightly floured surface, knead lightly. Pat or roll about ¾ inch thick. Cut out biscuits with floured 2-inch diameter biscuit cutter. Transfer to baking sheet and let stand 10-15 minutes for extra "fluffiness." Bake 10-12 minutes. Remove from oven and brush tops with melted butter.

For variations:
Dust before baking with cinnamon and sugar.
Mix in dough 3 to 6 slices cooked, crumbled bacon.
Roll dough ¼ inch thick. Put nuts, dates, raisins or drained canned fruit between two of the biscuit dough circles.

French Mushroom Omelet Sets Mood As Tree Is Trimmed

"Omelet Champignon Francaise" (French for mushroom omelet) is a delightfully festive dish, perfect for brunch or a late evening meal.

Sliced, gently sauteed mushrooms in a perky sour cream sauce set this omelet apart from the ordinary. It is the perfect main dish for your late tree trimming dinner, or that brunch for late rising guests.

This dressed-up omelet looks elegant and tastes delicious. For a special Noel occasion or just a morning or evening when you would like to cook something special, Dairy Council of California home economists recommend this high-in-protein omelet.

Serving Suggestion: Begin the brunch or late supper with a zippy tomato juice cocktail. With the omelet serve tiny green peas with sliced water chestnuts and hot rolls with plenty of butter. End the meal with a chilled fruit compote.

OMELETTE CHAMPIGNON FRANCAISE
(French Omelet w-Mushrooms)
Serves 6
2 tablespoons butter
8 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
dash of white pepper

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat. Tilt the skillet back and forth to grease well. Beat eggs with milk and seasonings just until blended. Pour eggs into skillet. Cook over low heat. As mixture sets at edge draw this portion to the center so that uncooked eggs flow to the bottom. Tilt skillet as this is done. Shake skillet to keep omelet sliding freely.

When eggs are set and top is still moist, increase heat to brown bottom quickly. Loosen edge of omelet all around, with a spatula. Crease down center. Cover half the omelet with mushroom filling. Fold over top and slide onto hot platter. Serve with remaining mushroom sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE
1 pound fresh mushrooms,

sliced
6 tablespoons butter
1 chicken bouillon cube, crumbled
1/4 cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup dairy sour cream
Saute mushrooms in 2 tablespoons of the butter. Add the bouillon cube and cook mushrooms about 5 minutes. Drain liquid into a measuring cup and reserve mushrooms.

In the same skillet, melt the remaining butter. Stir in flour and cook several minutes. Add enough milk to the mushroom liquid to make 1 cup, stir this into the butter-flour mixture. Cook until smooth and thick. Add the mushrooms. When heated through add the sour cream. Heat carefully, but do not allow to boil. Season with salt and pepper.

A Peanut Break Nice At Yuletide
On Christmas Eve animals and invisible spirits are traditionally fed in many countries. In Sweden, sheaves of grain are put outside for the birds; in France, "church bread" is given to animals in their stalls; in Poland and the Ukraine, porridge is set out for Father Frost; and the Danish put rice porridge in the attic for the Christmas elves. And in America, sometimes cookies or candy are left for Santa Claus in case he might be hungry!
Santa is sure to like Peanut Break, a new kind of cookie resembling peanut brittle and full of crunchy peanuts, too! This delicious brown sugar cookie will become a holiday tradition just as its popular look-alike has.

Pacifica City Council Delays 'Drive Through' Restaurant Vote

A Pacifica decision to support or overrule a planning commission denial of a rezoning application from Ralston Purina Inc., owner-operators of Jack in the Box "drive through" restaurants, has been put off until mid-March by the city council.

The council has received petitions from both persons for and against the construction of a $200,000 business at the corner of DeSoto Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard.

It delayed action pending completion of a planning commission survey and report dealing with possible rezoning from residential to neighborhood commercial of the entire west side of DeSoto.

Councilman W. Rick Wallis noted that persons living farther back in Linda Mar Valley seemed to favor the business site, but that those residents immediately adjacent to the site oppose the Jack in the Box construction.

Several opposing residents who live next to the proposed site said they did not disagree with proponents' claim that such a business is needed; however, they asserted the DeSoto-Linda Mar Boulevard corner lot was unsuitable for its location.

The tranquility as a residential district would be lessened, some claimed.

The planning commission has denied the rezoning application of Donald B. Krosch of Hayward, the Ralston Purina representative.

The planners' denial came on the strength, they declared, of four points:

That the Jack in the Box restaurant would create a health and safety problem, that its construction would be an "intrusion" into a residential sector, that an office building would be more desirable on the property, and that complete rezoning is being studied. Krosch told the council his company had studied several areas, but found only the one proposed to be suitable among those available. Traffic appeared to be a primary concern of residents who cited opposition to the proposal. They feared increased traffic, more difficult left turns, in addition to greater noise and litter, opponents said.

Acquisition Of Potential Park Land Approved

Although two members of the County Board of Supervisors indicated they are having second thoughts about the proposed San Pedro Valley Park near Pacifica, the board of December 9 authorized the start of preliminary negotiations for acquisition of the land.

"I have no objection to that," said James V. Fitzgerald, "But I want to reserve the right to take another look at it when the time comes for allocation of money to buy the land."

Fitzgerald pointed out that after the board agreed to the idea of a park there the more than 25,000 acres of the adjoining San Francisco-owned watershed was committed to permanent open space. He questioned whether additional park land will be needed in the area.

Chairman Robert St. Clair reminded Fitzgerald, however, that the only part of the watershed that is to be opened for public use lies west of Redwood City. And Vice-Mayor Grace L. McCarthy of Pacifica added that the watershed commitment would not fulfill the need for a park to serve the northern section of the county.

St. Clair, however, questioned whether the land earmarked for acquisition is too steep for public use. He also questioned the acquisition cost figure of $945,000 quoted by County Manager M. D. Tarshes. St. Clair asserted that the purchase price originally was to be only $600,000.

Colma Seeks An End To Pig Ranch

The Town of Colma went to court Thursday to have the area's last remaining commercial pig ranch — the Olcese Hog Company on Edgeworth Avenue — abated as a public nuisance.

A lawsuit filed by City Attorney Robert H. Cornell also asks $10,000 from the company to compensate the city for expenses it has incurred because of the ranch.

The ranch operation, the suit charges, "has caused infestation of rats and other rodents, noxious odors, and in general has been detrimental to the public health and safety of the residents of the adjoining areas, including all residents of the Town of Colma."

The suit, filed in Superior Court in Redwood City, asks the court to order a perpetual injunction against the use of the property as a hog ranch.

Python Owner Praises 'Lazy Man's Pet'

By BOB PETERSON

If you have an innate fear of snakes, you ought to meet Darrin G. Stevenson, owner of an 11-foot Asian Rock Python, or Richard Vincent, the "bring 'em back alive" Frank Buck of South San Francisco.

Stevenson, a Navy veteran and resident of Alameda, has an 8-year-old python he calls Ho Chi Minh. Stevenson brought the reptile back with him from Vietnam. (It's legal).

In August Stevenson took a wife. He left his pet with a friend for safekeeping while he and his spouse toured the United States on their honeymoon.

That's when the cat got out of the bag. Er, the snake got out of the cage.

Seems Stevenson's friend had Ho Chi Minh in a fiberglass cage. While at the Oyster Point Marina in South San Francisco, the snake pushed its way out. Simply left.

Both the friend, and Stevenson himself searched the area extensively for a week, finding nothing. They kept in constant touch with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, too. But no reports.

Meanwhile, three months later, Richard Vincent, his twin brother, Roger, of 420 Larch Ave., and their friend, Walter Quave, of 68 Franklin Ave., were making their usual journey home. The boys work as clay pigeon handlers at the Marina Rod and Gun Club trap range.

Richard said he spotted something in the grass beside the road "that looked like a big roll of rope." His first reaction was to "scream," which brought Roger and Walter to the scene. Their initial reaction was the same.

Boys' curiosity — even evident at the trio's knowledgeable age of 15 — prevailed. Richard went over for a closer look. The snake reacted with an acknowledging snap in the boy's direction.

Admitting his first urge was to retaliate by killing the reptile, Richard said he had second thoughts and decided "What the heck. Might as well catch it."

Richard said he stepped on the snake's head and picked it up. Brother Roger and friend Walter helped with the mid-section and tail. The plan was to take the snake home, then to call the SPCA.

The latter function was accomplished by the police. Because at about this time, Officer Joseph Rajeski was patrolling Oyster Point Boulevard.

He reported that he saw three boys "and to my surprise one of them had a boa constrictor wrapped around his shoulder."

"I like to catch snakes and lizards," said Richard matter-of-factly. "I've never caught a snake like that before, so I wanted to try. The snake would open its mouth once in awhile, and it was bigger than mine," said Richard.

The young lad's notoriety as a snake catcher is complete. He says schoolmates often asked, "Catching any snakes lately?" Richard, incidentally, also has a rattlesnake to his credit. He caught it on Mount Hamilton. "Mom doesn't know what I'm going to bring home," said Richard.

Stevenson, however, had praise for the boys' handling of Ho Chi Minh. They held the snake easily. Didn't squeeze him. And they didn't panic.

"It's people who hurt snakes. Because they are afraid," said Stevenson. "People, when they hear the word 'snake,' get so terrified they don't think. There is nothing to be afraid of."

"All a snake can do is hiss and strike," continued Stevenson. "You have to be asking for trouble before a rattlesnake, for example is going to hurt you. Leave him alone, and he'll leave you alone."

The reptile owner refers to Ho Chi Minh as a lazy man's pet. Easier to keep than a dog or a cat. There's no bother. Drinks little water. Doesn't smell, or carry any communicable diseases, and eats when it's ready. "The snake can go from three to six months without food," says Stevenson.

"The snake is an example of one of the finest pieces of structural engineering you'll ever see. After he sheds his skin, he's one of the most beautiful creatures of nature."

Stevenson admits fear of a snake in most people is as natural as breathing. "My buddy (who had the misfortune of losing the reptile) ever was scared of it, until he learned it wasn't going to bite him."

Others have learned the same lesson. Stevenson has taken the reptile into school classrooms, letting the students see and feel the snake in order to obtain a better understanding of it.

"In most instances," said Stevenson, "you start with 100 per cent against the snake. After they get over their inborn fear, at least 60 per cent have said they liked it."

Stevenson feels this recent period away from home may have been too much for Ho Chi Minh. He said he felt the snake is going to die in a few weeks.

"It's been injured internally by dogs, cats or others it came into contact with," said Stevenson.

'Democratic Way'

STORM TROOPERS — The Students stormed the stage during the closing session the following afternoon and took over the meeting. The governor's representatives and other guests were ordered off the stage.

This, naturally, was their (the youths') interpretation of the "Democratic way" to handle protests. The youth's reasoning was that it was a youth conference and should be handled by same. The results substantiated the meet was handled by youth.

About the only things we could find to agree with was their insistence that the voting age be lowered to 18; that they be appointed to various governing boards within the city and state government structure; and pass stronger legislation relating to air, water and soil pollution (Give a hippy a bath?).

But we found it hard to go along with them on legalizing pot (send those cards and letters to Governor Reagan); put youth in a position to assist in policy-making decisions, and their own outlook on sex.

In one other suggestion, the youth noted that premarital sex values were changing in this modern world and the "older" generation is starting to accept this (???). Funny how youth can read us old folks, but can't seem to "communicate" with us! And their suggestion that kids should be allowed to enter into discussions of sex in generally-mixed groups is equally non-digestible.

YOUTH POWER SHOWED itself at the recent Governor's State House conference concerning "California in the Seventies" in the same way they have in recent years — by forcing their way on stage and calling everyone and anything that's over 25 years old part of the "establishment."

Frankly, as the year comes to an end we are increasingly fed up with being called "The Establishment." Certainly we are over 25 — both in age and mentally — but we are still alert enough to understand right from wrong.

Some folks we've seen smiling into the telly cameras of late are perhaps over that age hurdle, but sure don't act it!

As an example of the "Seventies Protest" (participated in by the same vociferous citizens) some 100 youths — of the more than 1,500 delegates present — walked out of the Sacramento Civic Auditorium after Daniel J. Ransohoff, Community Director of Family Services in Cincinnati, spoke.

IT SEEMS Ransohoff, in presenting a chronological review of American history, made a statement relating to the fact that "American women obtained their rights to vote in 1923, a date later than that granting the Negro the right to vote." Although this was (and is) a factual statement, these young people got uptight and marched out of the building.

Tomorrow's leaders even want to make the "pill" more readily available to young people — at no cost and want prostitution legalized. There were a lot of items discussed, according to Daly City's representative to the confab, Chuck Vincent, head of the city's Parks and Recreation Department.

Chuck said he had attempted to attend the conference with an open mind and present the thoughts of the youth (those that took over the meeting apparently) "as viewed by the youth." He said there was considerable discussion on a far-ranging series of subjects "between the walk-out and the final session."

There was much that could be argued about concerning the youth's views and suggestions for bettering this "rotten" generation, a generation that did what it thought was right in the best way it knew how. A generation that put thousands of people to work to put a man in space, put a man on the moon, and brought him home.

And if the space exploration program is stopped, as the youths suggested, what will these thousands of workers do? Go onto welfare rolls? Answer that one please.

OFF THE CUFF — Pacifica city attorney (and former law partner of superior court judge Conrad Reich) John Sherman, is picking up steam in his bid to unseat Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan. Just heard that Bob Miller (San Bruno realtor) has pledged his support. Except for a few minor skirmishes with Daly City mayor Bud Lyett, Ryan has been very quiet.

'White Man's Road'

THE MANEUVER of certain American Indians on Alcatraz brings to mind the names of many authors who have pointed to the sad plight of the original Americans. Among them is Benjamin Capps whose novels are both exciting and profound.

The latest, "The Whiteman's Road" — explores a youthful Indian's desire to find his place in the world — Can he, he wonders, become a self respecting man on the reservation; must he renounce the faith of "the old love," and live like the white men he knows but does not admire.

"The Whiteman Road" is the story of Joe Cowbone whose family is split in the turmoil of the Indian Wars of the Southwest — His mother is a Comanche named Little Brown Girl; his father an elusive white trader who vanished many years before.

THERE IS NO MODEL for Joe to follow — The white man's ways are alien. The Indians who have tried to follow them have come back to the reservations embittered and estranged from both Indians and whites. "Enjoy life," cries the cynical Great Eagle as he drinks from his bottle. "Let's have fun, boys! Joke! Laugh and have fun!" He seemed insistent that they should shout and tell loud stories and laugh and he seemed desperate to find a way to make them do it.

"He is not like the snake and the horned frog, Joe thought, but like a mad snake who has turned his back on a part of himself and has attacked himself and struggles to escape and pursue at the same time." As Joe searches for a path through the frustration that besets him he is told by both red men and white — "You don't understand." In despair he shouts, "If I don't understand why not? I'm not stupid! I can understand anything if I know what it is I'm trying to understand."

His cry rings through the book to the last scene which shows the passing of a reservation because white men needed the land and the dilemma of the Indians who are thus losing their homes.

"No people in all the history of man kind had faced a more difficult and painful dilemma. They wavered in anguish in a void between two worlds. Their frustration and sadness and hope were beyond comprehension of those who had not faced it."

ALTHOUGH JOE COWBONE'S story ended in 1900, his people are still wandering between two worlds. Alcatraz is the witness that they have "a long journey on what they call the white man's road."

"The White Man's Road" was published in October, 1969. In a review of it Theodore Rubin wrote, "This is a fine book... A true understanding of character structure is obviously part and parcel of Capps' make up."

It is a moving artistic novel by a man who feels for a forelorn people and hints at a solution to their problems. Ask for it at your public library.

SEASONAL WARNING

Watch The Flame

CHRISTMAS TREES appear on the lots early in the holiday season so, when you look for your tree, choose the freshest looking one and one that is no larger than you need. The larger the tree, the greater is the fire hazard.

Saw off an inch or more above the original cut and stand the tree in water until you are ready to dispose of it. Make sure that it is well supported and will not fall over.

Do not rely on chemical preparations to "flameproof" your tree. They are not 100 per cent effective. Watch the cigarette smoker near your tree.

Check all strings of tree lights carefully. Look for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Use only non-combustible materials, such as metal, glass and asbestos for decorations.

Do not use polystyrene foam candleholders or decorations.

Metalized or plastic trees should carry a mark as being made of slow-burning materials. If the tree has a built-in lighting system it should carry the Underwriter's Laboratories label. Metal trees conduct electricity so use only indirect lighting.

For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by the Underwriter's Laboratories.

Dispose of gift wrappings promptly. It is the natural thing on Christmas morning, after all the gifts have been opened, to burn in the fireplace. If you insist on doing so, remember it is unsafe to do so.

Turn off tree lights or any other decorative lighting when retiring or leaving the house.

Merry Christmas

JAMES HALLEY

Sometimes, A Clash!

Fair trial and the right of free speech and press are both protected under the federal Constitution. The First Amendment provides that "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or freedom of the press..." The Sixth Amendment states, "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed..."

As with other constitutional rights and delegations of power, these concepts occasionally come into sharp conflict with one another. One man's free comment may be another's unfair trial. The means of guaranteeing an impartial jury may stifle important news.

Commencing in the times of Chief Justice John Marshall, the Courts have had a continuing and difficult task of balancing these rights. In earlier years, the problem was not so complex. Today, with instant and universal communication, the clash of fair trial vs. free press affects not only individuals but also the important national interest. Such cases as those of Jack Ruby, Sirhan Sirhan and the My Lai events have focused judicial and public attention on this problem.

Defendants in important cases are customarily well represented by counsel who not only understand the law, but also the facts related to an important case are also independently important to public opinion. For example, those facts that would reflect upon the ability of a public official to hold office, as in the case of Senator Edward Kennedy, or those that relate to an important issue, per se, as in the Ruby, Sirhan and My Lai instances, are a proper part of the public grist. To suppress such information is to weaken our democratic process.

The Sixth Amendment relates to fair and speedy trials. Unfortunately, our trials are not really speedy and if pre-trial comment is forbidden, public information could lag by years. For example, the My Lai event (although proceedings are under military jurisdiction) has finally come to light a year and a half after the alleged occurrence. After customary delays, it might be expected the trial would end some three or four years after the fact. Thus the 1968, 1970 and 1972 elections might have all passed without disclosure of vital information. The Kennedy proceedings have hardly been noteworthy for their speediness.

The courts and Canons of the Bar are doing a reasonably good job of handling procedure and publicity at time of trial. The difficulty rests with pre-trial publicity. In this area, common sense indicates that there will have to be some sacrifice of defendant's rights in order that the public may be properly informed. Clearly, this should be restricted to those cases that do affect the public interest.

It very often occurs that facts related to an important case are also independently important to public opinion. For example, those facts that

A Slim Minority

IN THE HOLIDAY atmosphere of mistletoe and well-wishing to one and all, the Better Business Bureau is almost reluctant to chance humbugging the jolly conviviality with words of warning — however timely. The Better Business Bureau has been around many Christmas shopping seasons and knows from past experience that not everyone you meet has only visions of sugar plums dancing in his head. There are those who operate on the theory that it is better to receive than to give; they are out to get all they can from whomever they can filch it. One of the most likely targets of such operators is the last minute Christmas shopper.

Fortunately the unscrupulous operators represent a slim minority of the overall business community and can be detected and avoided if the public is alerted to their tricks. Some of these spurious activities include: The itinerant salesman, who under the guise of secrecy, offers famous name watches at "tremendously reduced prices." To the gullible observer the watches appear to have all the outward characteristics of the genuine name watch when in reality they are counterfeit with timing mechanisms of the cheapest construction. The vendor appears on the streets who offer "expensive" sweaters or sweaters at unbelievable prices.

THERE HAVE BEEN instances where these bargains were not only misrepresented but were so flammable as to be dangerous to the wearer. Imports deserve close inspection. Many are of excellent quality, but others are cheaply made and are palmed off as the Christmas shopper.

Do not be fooled by "manufacturer's prices" printed on cartons, packaging or labels. Such price tags are used on cheap items such as cuff links, imitation pearls, bidfold and miscellaneous wearing apparel to give illusions of great bargains. Children with their small savings and the desire to give "big presents" are often victims of phony price labeling.

Be skeptical of "open stock" comparatives on sets of tools, trunks, silverware or dishes, when the advertiser claims that the cost would be twice if purchased separately. Prices are always lower for sets and the only comparison that is valid is if the price is equal for identical sets.

IT CAN BE EXPECTED that the popularly advertised toys will be featured as leaders. The so-called "list prices" will be totally meaningless as comparative prices.

Do not be alarmed by these many cautions concerning your Christmas shopping. Percentages wise only a few will be victimized. Follow two recommendations from the Better Business Bureau and you will be happy with your Christmas shopping: If you do not know your store — know your merchandise. If you do not know your merchandise — know your merchant.

Jefferson Lands In Third Place In Riordan Tournament

By JERRY LITRELL
Post Sports Writer

Could Capuchino and South San Francisco High schools have damaged themselves beyond repair in last week's Riordan Tournament?

Could Jefferson have strengthened itself even further in that same eight-team meeting, thus making the Indians overwhelming favorites to capture the North Peninsula League title?

Question No. 1 — Possibly. Question No. 2 — Possibly.

The Indians smashed Salesian, 70-55, to win third place in the rugged competition, while Cap and the Warriors struggled around in overtime before SSF won seventh place, 55-54. For Cap it was its third straight loss in the tournament. For Jeff it was a win number one in three tries at Riordan. For Jeff it was an omen that even without 6-7 center Earl Wilson the Indians will probably dominate league action.

Center Pinky Smith broke loose from a two-game personal slump to break the tournament record by popping in 30 points in the Salesian victory. The old record was 30 by Capuchino's Matt Kiretich. Smith, however, was not chosen to the all-tourney squad but teammates Dale Conway and John Burrus represented the Peninsula's interests.

With forward Don Redmond filling in for Wilson the Indians still appear to have a solid club, something no other NPL team has been able to claim so far. Smith and Redmond led Jeff to an early lead over Salesian and it was over by halftime although the losers, behind Jesse Stewart, made a brief run at the Indians in a 20-point third quarter.

"There will be a few changes made," said both Mustang Coach Jimmy Johnson and Warrior mentor Bill Purcell, neither of whom is used to losing consistently, after watching the final game that saw host Riordan take its own tourney, 58-52, over Woodrow Wilson.

"We have been taking poor shots and, naturally, haven't been hitting for any percentage at all," mused Johnson. "Against South City we hit about 30 per cent. And we're supposed to be a good shooting team."

As for SSF, two basic errors came through constantly — the inability to rebound and the inability to hold onto a lead in the last few minutes of play. Reverses played most of the game for SSF as the starting unit hadn't been doing a job either on defense or on the boards. In fact, Purcell used a line-up in the second half that featured no one over 6-1, three players being 5-10 and under.

Rich Crumpton put the Warriors on top, 52-48, with two minutes to go on a 10-footer straight-away. Forward Mark Wuerter pulled Cap within two with just 40 seconds left when he hit a baseline jumper. Then Jim Geyer stole the ball and dropped in a lay-in just five seconds later to tie the game at 52-52.

Jim Housman's free throw opened the extra period putting SSF up by one but Don Dowling pushed Cap in front with a short jumper. With 30 seconds left Crumpton drove for the basket, fed off to reserve center Setosa Setosa and the muscular pivotman banked in the winning bucket. Cap then forced a shot and missed. South City got the rebound and the Mustangs were forced to foul guard Tom Nix.

He missed his free throw with six seconds left but Cap was unable to gain the officials' attention for a timeout and the buzzer sounded.

A disputed play also ended the first quarter when Cap shot and missed a last-second shot and the officials ruled the ensuing rebound and shot didn't clear the shooter's hand before the buzzer. A protesting player was assessed with a technical foul and the one-point penalty proved the margin.

Trailing by two at the half, Carlmont poured it on running in the third quarter, outscoring O'Connell 22-5 and taking the lead for good. Forward Ed Riley was high point man for the Scots with 12.

"This is the first time we've been contested on the boards," Togner said. "We got our share, but these men were not really big. There's a lot more height in our own league, and when we play Capuchino in the Sunnyvale tournament (December 22) we go up against a double post where both men are 6-4. All we can do is play defense and run."

And in a league like the SPAL, that may not be enough.

Jeff Star Ineligible

It wasn't just what you would call your "ideal week" for Jefferson basketball Coach Mike Kelly.

Last week Kelly learned from league officials that, for the second straight year, his championship "C" basketball players will have to forfeit their title because of an ineligible player. A mixup in administrative paperwork apparently caused this forfeiture of title. This gives the title to Westmoor, which had tied with the Indians for the championship.

Then last Thursday the Indians learned that 6-7 center Earl Wilson has been declared scholastically ineligible for the remainder of the semester. Just how long the senior center will be out is still uncertain right now but it appears he will miss at least the entire first half of league play.

There have been better times, no doubt.

The Jeff-Wilson game was by far the outstanding effort of the day's activities. Wilson has three jumping forwards who leap out of the gym when rebounding and a little guy named Willie Daigle, the only player on the entire team under 6-0, but the sparkplug of the offense.

Jeff tried to stop the 6-7, 6-6 and 6-4 front line of Wilson with a zone defense but the Warriors just dominated the boards, as an outmanned 6-5 Pinky Smith could do little to counteract their board strength. After an

Motorcycle Superstar

San Bruno's Mark Brelsford, motorcycle racing's newest superstar, led the contingent of the west's top bike pilots into the Daly City Cow Palace Saturday night.

Brelsford, though only 19 years of age, is ranked among the leaders of the nation's top two-wheel pilots. Besides holding numerous California records, the young San Brunan is also the defending indoor motorcycle champion.

However, Brelsford, who pilots a Harley-Davidson, didn't see an easy task in securing his second straight indoor crown on the cow barn oval as some 90 experienced pilots were pursuing the crown.

Saturday's race was the opening of American Motorcycle Association's professional indoor series, with races slated to be held every Saturday night.

There were ten elimination heat races, four heat races, two semi-finals, a trophy dash and the main event.

Just as last year, the competition includes the Harleys, Triumphs, BSAs, Yamahas, Hondas, Buellacos, Montesas, Kawasakis, Bucatis and OSSAs that bring the international flavor to the Cow Palace in representing Great Britain, Japan, Spain, Italy and the U.S.

For Terra Nova Basketball Coach A Vision Comes True

Terra Nova basketball coach Don Delbon saw a vision come true Saturday night as his Tigers mangled San Mateo 74-48 in the Highland Doubleheader at Carlmont.

Host Terry Stogner's Scots were winners for the second time in two nights, 58-39 over O'Connell, but he has no time left for dreaming.

The Tigers, who have had a disappointing basketball history, showed good potential earlier in the practice season, barely losing to Galileo and Palo Alto and whipping O'Connell by 17. But they had never broken loose.

"It's the kind of thing you lie in bed at night thinking about," Delbon said. "To see these kids just break loose, just once."

They were off and running from the outset. Guards Bob Petty and Bob McClure were the top of the key time and time again in the first half and didn't miss, scoring 22 points between them to give the Tigers a 36-27 halftime bulge.

The third quarter iced it. Junior forward Jeff Wellmeyer, who Delbon calls "one of the best players in the North league," hit 13 underneath as the Tigers outscored the Bears 26-6 and put the game out of reach.

Wellmeyer was high point man for the night with 19. Petty netted 14 and McClure got 16. The only Bearcat in double figures was center Matt Love.

"We're very young and very inexperienced," Delbon said, "but this shows we can be good. Jeff and South City worry when they come to play us." Perhaps for good reason.

Terry Stogner's Scots will have trouble this year, and they got their first taste of it against John O'Connell Tech of San Francisco.

The Boilermaker offense depended on a feed to two big men inside. The tallest Scot starter, Bruce Bulkin, is only 6-2. The Scots were shut off in the first quarter, unable to penetrate or keep the ball away from the Boilermakers' 6-4 Ed Braden, and trailed 11-4.

Stogner's answer: play man-to-man defense as hard as you can and run, run, run. It worked. O'Connell didn't get any easy shots after that. The Boilermakers were slow, and were tired by the fourth quarter.

Two More Tournaments For Preps

Prep basketball action reaches the peak of the practice season this week with two major tournaments and a flurry of individual games slated to take most schools right into Christmas vacation.

Topping the week's schedule is the Fourth Annual El Camino Invitational beginning Wednesday evening and running through Saturday. Eight teams will vie in the Peninsula's largest basketball tournament led by Riordan's Crusaders, last week's champions of their own invitational and the defending West Catholic Athletic League champions.

Along with Riordan come St. Ignatius, defending North Peninsula League champion South San Francisco, defending tournament champion Jefferson, last year's runner-up San Mateo, Mills, Crestmoor and host Carmelo.

Three other Peninsula schools take part in the Awall Tournament this week. In fact, all three, Gunn, Hillsdale and Burlingame, are in the same bracket. Other squads in that classic are Mountain View, host-Awall, Los Altos, Lick-Wilmerding and Lynbrook. Play begins Thursday and concludes Saturday.

POLICE ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Lack Of Money In Daly City

By FRANK LAPIERRE
A vital communications line between police and kids that started in Daly City 12 years ago may soon fade away for lack of funds.

The Police Athletic League (PAL) that has shaped the lives of thousands of youngsters — from five to 18 years old — is in desperate need of money and for the first time in its local history will start knocking on doors seeking contributions.

Daly City's PAL program was the first in the state, starting in 1957, and at one time involved more than 500 local boys in bowling, boxing, baseball and basketball.

The program costs some $10,000 to function annually and in recent years the funds slowed down and officers of the non-profit organization had to dip into reserve funds to keep their heads above water.

At one time, the PAL staged an annual bowling contest to raise funds. Merchants would donate an assortment of prizes and the Westlake Bowling lanes provided the facility to hold the contest.

Police captain Dave Hansen remembers when the bowling contest netted the PAL "in the neighborhood of $5,000." But no more!

Last year the same contest, held in the same facility, just didn't attract the same number of people and the league realized something less than $600 for all their time and effort in staging the bowling fest.

This year Hansen said "some of the programs will have to be curtailed due to lack of money. Even with the paring of participants the program will still make room for some 350 kids from all sections of the city."

And while bowling is out this year, the season will continue with basketball and, hopefully, go into the baseball season with the same enthusiasm as it has over the past quarter century since its founding back east.

"Our objective is to make good citizens out of today's youth," Hansen said. "We are offering these youth a chance at competitive endeavor on the sporting field."

It has been proven over the past dozen years that kids who take part in the program allows them to let off steam and the baseball season lets kids take out their frustrations (if they have any) on that little leather wrapped sphere thrown at them.

Mary "oldtimers" who shared the pleasure of the playing field, thanks to PAL, will wonder what they would have done without the guidance of a good policeman — a guy who taught them to steal bases, not money and cars.

THE GENTLE ART of fisticuffs is brought out in this photo of two young PAL scrappers going at it in the squared circle. PAL insures that the fighting is fair and held in a supervised ring—not on a sidewalk or back alley.

Setting Down A Case For Lefty's Induction To 'Hall'

By LE PACINI

WE'VE BEEN SITTING here at the typewriter trying to write something about Lefty O'Doul, but everything we try comes out maudlin, and that isn't the way to write about such a vital man as Lefty O'Doul, whether he's alive or isn't.

So at the risk of being accused of copying out, we're going to reprint a column we wrote a few years ago in which we set down our case for O'Doul's induction into the Hall of Fame.

As far as we're concerned it's still relevant and the best tribute we can pay Lefty. (A sidelight: Several days after this was originally printed in the Post, we got a call from Lefty — an acquaintance but not a friend — at home one weekend morning. He had read the column and somehow, through his vast connections, had run down our unlisted number. He thanked us for the kind words, and when we said that we wished we could do more, than just write about it, Lefty said, "Don't worry about it. I'm not." That's how Lefty O'Doul should always be remembered: as a man who never worried about not being in the Hall of Fame and meant it.)

THERE ARE A DOZEN MEN in baseball's Hall of Fame who have as much right to be so honored as Jimmy Ray Hart, who has to deliver the keynote address at the next national political convention.

Yet, Lefty O'Doul sits on Geary Street with his .340 lifetime batting average and little more to show for it than a few old golf trophies.

Who are some of the illustrious mediocrities who have beaten O'Doul out for baseball's Seat of Honor?

Try "Candy" Cummings, for an example. He was a pioneer in the 1870's, true, and purportedly invented the curve ball. But he played in the majors for only six years, and while he won 141 games, it was in an era when some pitchers were winning 40 a season.

Johnny Evers and Joe Tinker are probably the only men in the history of sport to gain such high honor on the basis of a popular poem. If they hadn't been immortalized by Franklin P. Adams' verse ("These are the saddest of possible words; Tinker to Evers to Chance . . ."), they wouldn't have made it. They had long careers and were good glove men, but they batted only .270 and .263, respectively, in a time when .300 hitters were relatively common, and though they were the best doubleplay combo of their day, they never set a doubleplay record of any lasting significance.

DID RABBIT MARANVILLE, a fine fielder but only a .258 hitter, make it because of his record or because some of his screwball antics have become Hot Stove legends?

A Tom McCarthy hit .294 before the turn of the century, was .07 as a pitcher, and he's in the Hall, too.

Relatively undistinguished shortstops seem to be most favored by selectors. One Bobby Wallace, who also did a little pitching (25-18) and managing (seventh and eighth place finishes with the Browns), hit a stunning .268, and although he participated for 25 years, until age 45, did his above records and just sticking around warrant a place in the Hall of Fame?

And who ever heard of James O'Rourke?

So there sits Lefty with his golf trophies and his fifth all-time highest lifetime major league batting average; which means he outdid the legendary old-time duo of Dan Brouthers and Ed Delahanty, Willie Keeler, Tris Speaker, Ted Williams, Babe Ruth, Jesse Burkett, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry, George Sisler and Lou Gehrig, all Hall of Fame members.

O'Doul still holds, with Terry, the National League record for most hits in a season, 254 (only Sisler's American League total of 257 beats him), and twice led the NL in hitting, in 1929 and 1932. With all of this he was a fine outfielder and baserunner.

Standard argument against O'Doul is that not only didn't he play long enough, at 11 years, but that since four of his years were as a pitcher, and two of the others — his last two — were as a part-time player, he in effect played only five years as a "regular."

In a way, this argument tends to illustrate what a tremendous hitter O'Doul was. Throw out his early pitching years and the last couple of seasons when he was washed up, and he hit better than .300 at his peak, which would put him right behind Ted Cobb's all-time .307. But longevity, the experts say, is one of the marks of a true great. Count only the peak years of many men, and they'd make the Hall of Fame. Cobb, Ruth, et al. they argue, compiled their records over a number of years, and that's what truly set them apart.

ONE MIGHT ACCEPT that expertise if only the case of Dizzy Dean could be explained away. Dean, the colorful right-handed pitcher known almost as well for his butchering of the language and hi-jinx with the Gas House Gang as for his ball playing, had a career which in many years parallels O'Doul's, and Dizzy, of course, is in the Hall.

Dean was in the majors for 12 seasons, three in which he appeared in one game, and three in which he was in a total of 43 games. Subtract the one-half season he missed when Earl Averill cracked that fateful liner off his foot in the 1937 All-Star game, and Dean, like O'Doul, had only five full seasons in the majors. Like O'Doul, with this .296, 254 hit year, Dean had one truly great year, when in 1934 he became the last pitcher to win 30 games in a season. And like O'Doul, who followed with a near-great 33.3 season, Dean followed in '35 with a near-great 28 wins.

Ernie's LIQUORS

O'Doul's years were relatively greater than Dean's, because whereas Dean had his great years before his 27th birthday, O'Doul had to transcend a return to the minors as a 30-year-old southpaw hurler and a late return to the majors as a 31-year-old outfielder. He has his two great years at ages 32 and 33.

One can only imagine what O'Doul might have done had he started his career as an outfielder and had the opportunity to hit regularly in his early and middle '20's.

If potential, what might or could or should have been, is a criteria for the Hall, then certainly Dean belongs, as does Lefty O'Doul.

TAG ENDS: The NBA's Van Arsdale twins, Tom and Dick (two days weren't triplets, the third brother could have been named ...), at last check, were both averaging exactly 20.4 points per game ... They say that O. J. Simpson is having a very disappointing year in the AFL, but what's so disappointing about being sixth in the league in rushing and first in kick off returns (30.1)? ... especially with a weak, generally non-supportive team like Buffalo.

Professional basketball is continually beefing (at least the coaches and players do) about its officiating, but why don't they do something about it? Like have the officials work in teams of at least three, so that one can substitute for the others at certain intervals.

If the players can be rested, why not the officials? They have to do just as much running around, are under just as much pressure, and are certainly on the average much older than the players. They're human, too (although some pro coaches would deny this), and tend to make more mistakes when fatigued and/or under constant pressure.

Our apology to Lou Sanchez, Terra Nova's sensational freshman running back. Couple of weeks ago we identified him as a South American, but he's from Central America—and proud of it.

Losses Began Friday Night In Tourney

early see-saw battle. Wilson roared in front 19-12 at the quarter with Daigle and Bob Pruitt slashing away up front. Jeff's last bucket at the horn came when John Burrus' 75-foot heave ripped through the cords inciting even the Warrior starters to give him a standing ovation.

Wilson just kept hitting those boards and eventually built up a 16-point halftime lead. During that first half the immense front line had 14 blocked or tipped shots against Jeff, which started to adjust some shots and force others—a fatal mistake.

With Daigle and Pruitt continuing their onslaught, Wilson built up a 47-23 lead as Jeff began falling apart. Then guard Larry Belfrage, who should have worked himself into a starting lineup shot by now, came off the bench and began to weave his frantic magic again, stealing passes, leading for lay-ins and single-handedly pushing his teammates towards the lead.

It was too late, however, as the closest Jeff got was 64-57 behind Dale Conway's sudden hot hand. But Daigle put away three straight buckets and it was all over. Smith, who entered the tourney with a 33.3 scoring average, was clamped tight again in the first half with just two points. He ended with 14 but was nullified by the Wilson Terrible Three.

As for South City, the Warriors were just awful. Unable to rebound or even gain adequate floor position for blocking out the taller Lincoln squad, SSF was lucky to be as close as 61-49 at the end. Reserve center Setoga Setoga and starting guard Tim Noxon played well but, after a superb three-quarter effort against Jeff in the opening round, the defending NPL champs were completely off their game.

Skyliners' Repeat Ends In Reversal

A second performance by Skyline Junior College won no critical raves from Coach Walt Rilliet last night in San Bruno.

The Trojans sustained an 80-64 basketball defeat at the hands of Monterey Peninsula, whom they had beaten earlier this year.

"I think we may have been looking a little bit ahead to our tournament," Rilliet said, "but it was just a poor game on our part. We didn't do it and they did."

Serramonte Nips Lick-Wilmerding

Serramonte High School, paced by Dave Martinez' 11 points, defeated Lick-Wilmerding High School of San Francisco, 41-37, on the latter's court December 9.

Pad Cagers

Stave Off Don Rally

There is nothing like experience, as Aragon High School woefully learned December 9.

Coach Eddie Diaz's cagers, making their 1969 debut, faltered in the waning moments to a more seasoned Serra squad, 64-57. The Dons, who got off to a rather ragged start with 14 turnovers in the first half, rallied from a 28-20 halftime deficit to pull within two points of Serra with three minutes to go.

The Padres, playing their third game of the young campaign, went into a patented stall and the neophyte Don cagers committed several fouls which proved the difference in the final minutes.

"Overall, it was a pretty good first game," stated Diaz. "They were just a little more organized than we were," the veteran mentor added.

Jim Roney and Bill Lewis picked up the tempo for the losers in the third quarter, with Roney garnering 12 markers and Lewis getting six in the session.

Lynn Swann and John Crosby paced the Padre effort with 16 points each, while Roney was high man for the game with 25 points.

Capuchino's 'Tangs Beat Mission High

Capuchino High School tuned up for its impending skirmishes in the annual Rioran Basketball Classic by bouncing Mission High School of San Francisco, 57-51, on the Mustang hardwoods December 9.

Coach Jim Johnson's crew makes its debut in the Rioran event this evening at 7 o'clock when it takes on Salesian.

In yesterday's game, both teams experienced a cold first half with Cap taking a slim 24-22 advantage off the court at halftime.

However, the Mustangs broke open the contest in the third period. Dave Adornetto hit three straight buckets, followed by a pair each by Paul Maples and Don Dowling to vault the Capers out to a commanding 15-point lead.

Johnson then substituted for the remainder of the game, with 11 Mustangs figuring in the scoring column. Adornetto paced the well balanced attack with 12 points.

The victory gave Capuchino a 3-2 mark for the young season.

Jefferson's Matmen Lose To Mills Hi

Paced by pins by Bob Minklein and Don Hutchison, the Mills High School wrestling team registered a 38-23 victory over Jefferson Dec. 9 on the winner's mats.

Minklein, competing in the unlimited division, pinned John Hurwitz, while Hutchison downed Ray Vanover. The Vikes, who tallied seven pins, also got help from Marc Shea, who pinned his opponent in 24 seconds of the first round.

Fruitcakes, Traditional As Ancient Greece, Today Come In Sophisticated Dress

Your precious family heirlooms may include a fruitcake recipe passed down through generations and enjoyed at every holiday season.

In fact, it is said that fruitcakes can be traced back to early Greek history. Your heirloom recipe may not be that old, but it could still call for the home cooking of the candied fruits.

These recipes took many, many hours of preparation and usually were made months ahead of time and "aged" till the holidays.

Modern methods and convenience foods now make fruitcake preparation a matter of minutes rather than hours with equally delicious — perhaps even better — results.

One new variation of this old-time favorite is Ambrosia Fruitcake. It's mix-easy to make with Date Bar Mix, whole candied cherries, pecan halves, dates and the original addition of coconut. Moist and crunchy, this colorful fruitcake is a truly delicious combination of flavors that everyone is sure to like. An orange hard sauce adds the final touch of festive glory.

Here is the recipe as developed:

AMBROSIA FRUITCAKE

1 package date bar mix
2-3 cup all-purpose flour
3 eggs
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons light molasses
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1 cup pecan halves
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup flaked coconut
1 package (8 ounces) candied whole red cherries (1 cup)

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Grease and flour 6-cup ring mold. In large bowl, mix date filling from date bar mix and water. Add crumbly mix, eggs, flour, molasses, baking powder and spices; mix thoroughly. Stir in nuts, dates, coconut and cherries. Pour into prepared mold. Bake about 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from pan; cool thoroughly. Wrap and refrigerate. Serve with Orange Hard Sauce.

Orange Hard Sauce: In small mixer bowl, beat 1/2 cup soft butter until very creamy, fluffy and light in color. Gradually beat in 1 cup confectioners' sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange peel and 1 tablespoon orange juice. Chill about 1 hour.

Spirited fruitcake has long been a traditional favorite for the holidays, but when it is baked in a "robe" of delicate golden pastry it suddenly becomes interesting news. This is an easy accomplishment for you inventive cooks, and a spectacular "show off" dessert for creative hostesses.

You can add versatility to its popularity also, for this fruitcake can be served several ways. Sliced, as always, or warm or cool as a pudding topped with a choice of thin Brandy Butter Sauce or Fluffy Sherried Hard Sauce.

This fruitcake itself is richly flavored and superbly mellowed with a fine well-aged California brandy and robust ruby port.

Two other festive favorites are Brandy Crisps and Glazed Sherry Wafers, deliciously sophisticated cookies flavored with brandy and sherry. Although designed for holiday entertaining, you'll find them perfect the year-round... with dessert coffee, or an after-dinner brandy, ruby port or cream sherry.

Both the fruitcake and the cookies make welcome and out-of-the-ordinary gifts... sweet remembrances from the sunny vineyards of California.

FRUIT CAKE IN-A-ROBE

3/4 cups diced candied fruit
1/2 cup sliced dates
1 1/2 cups seedless raisins
1/4 cup brandy
1/4 cup ruby port
Pastry
3 eggs
1 cup butter
1/2 cup soft butter
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Combine fruits, port and brandy. Let stand an hour or longer, stirring occasionally. Prepare pastry and line pan. Beat eggs and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in soft butter. Resift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Stir into egg mixture. Add fruits and walnuts; mix well. Spoon into pastry lined pan. Fit top crust over batter. Moisten edges and fold back over top of cake so the fold is on top of the cake (not over rim of pan). Prick top pastry all over. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 2 hours, until cake tester comes out clean. Let stand in pan 10 minutes, then invert onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 (3 quart) cake.

PASTRY: Combine 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in two-thirds cup butter or margarine. Add about one-third cup cold milk (sufficient to make stiff dough). Roll out about 1/4 of the dough to a large circle to fit a 3-quart pan or mold. (This will be about the diameter of the pan plus twice the height.) Carefully fit pastry into pan, easing out fullness at sides. Trim off excess pastry, leaving about 1/2-inch overhanging all around. Roll remaining pastry to circle about 1-inch wider than top of pan to use as top crust.

To Serve Cake as a Pudding: Cut slices of warm or cool cake. Serve with warm Brandy Butter Sauce or Fluffy Sherried Hard Sauce. Or, be daring and serve this unusual fruitcake-pudding "double sauced" with a little of both!

BRANDY BUTTER SAUCE
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/4 cup brandy
Cook and stir butter, sugar, egg, lemon juice and peel until mixture boils. Add brandy. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

FLUFFY SHERRIED HARD SAUCE
1-3 cup soft butter

1 1/2 cups sifted powdered sugar
2 tablespoons cream sherry
Beat all ingredients together until fluffy. Makes about 1 cup.

BRANDY CRISPS
5 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1/4 cup brandy
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup finely chopped almonds
Combine butter, sugar, corn syrup and brandy in small saucepan. Heat slowly just until butter is melted and sugar dissolved. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Stir in flour, salt and almonds. Bake 2 cookies at a time, dropping about 1 1/2 teaspoons batter onto lightly greased baking sheet for each, and allowing ample room for spreading. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 5 to 6 minutes, just until lightly browned. Remove from oven and let stand 1 minute. Then, quickly loosen edges with spatula, and roll around the handle of a wooden spoon. If cookies refuse at edges when they are loosened, allow to stand a few seconds longer. If they cannot be loosened easily from the baking sheet, return to oven for a few seconds. Makes 1 1/2 to 2 dozen cookies, depending on size.

NOTE: A second baking sheet can be started when the first cookies have baked about 3 minutes. Set second pan into oven when first comes out. With a little practice, 3 or 4 cookies may be baked at once, and handled sufficiently rapidly to roll.

Outpaces Men
World meat production is increasing faster than world population. There was an increase of 2.6 per cent in meat production in 1968 while in the same period human population figures increased 2.0 per cent.

The amazing apricot is truly nature's gift to good health. What other fruit combines so much genuine flavor with so much nutritional value? A quick check of your nutrition chart will show that apricots are head-and-shoulders above other competing fruits.

Apricots add the elegant touch to meals because they can be served in so many ways, from cakes and cookies to salad and chip-dips. Serve apricots, the festive fruit just right for every holiday occasion. And for that matter, just right for any day of the week—anytime!

Place one apricot half in each muffin cup, cut side up. Top each with a biscuit. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 12 minutes or until biscuits are browned. Turn upside-down on a plate and serve while hot. Makes 10 buns.

WESTERN FRUIT CANDY BALLS

APRICOT MERINGUE TRIFLE

6 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup white wine
whole macaroons
6 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
1 can apricots

Beat 6 egg yolks until they are light and lemon-colored; add 1/4 cup sugar, and gradually stir in one cup white wine. Cook the egg yolk mixture in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly, until it coats the spoon. Let the custard cool. Arrange a layer of whole macaroons in a heat-proof glass serving bowl. Fill the bowl with alternate layers of canned apricot halves (peeled, if you like) and custard. Beat 6 egg whites with a pinch of salt until they are stiff, add 6 tablespoons of sugar and continue to beat the meringue until it is shiny. Spread the meringue over the trifle and decorate it with meringue rosettes piped through a pastry tube, if desired. Bake the trifle in a slow oven (300 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the meringue is delicately colored. Cool the trifle before serving.

Westmoor Hi Rams Get Second Win

Westmoor doesn't play very often but when the Rams do take the court they have developed a neat habit of winning games.

In only their second game in the past two weeks, Tony Giammona's squad held on for a 58-56 victory over Galileo raising their practice record to 2-0.

Experiencing foul trouble and sloppiness in the execution of the patented Westmoor zone defense, the Rams cashed in on 22 free throws to grab the victory margin. Both squads had 18 buckets so accuracy from the line really meant the difference.

From a 53-all tie the Rams jumped five ahead on Jim Lewis' two charity tosses and Jeff Orlich's lay-in and free throw. Galileo came right back with two quick buckets but Orlich, who scored all 12 of his points after intermission, canned the final free throw to make it 58-56.

Bearcats And Scots Triumph In Inaugurals

San Mateo and Carlmont were both winners on Friday in the first half of the Highland Doubleheader Invitational at Carlmont, but victory was a lot sweeter for the Scots.

It was a team that hadn't won a single game last year. Its tallest starter was practically a midget, as far as basketball goes. And it was a team heavily loaded with inexperienced juniors. But the Scots won, and won big.

San Mateo's victory was sluggish in spots, and didn't lift coach Gus Hassapakis' holiday spirits much. As far as he was concerned, the season started on a sour note, albeit a victorious one.

Carlmont, 0-24 last year, shut down Terz Nova with an energetic defense and won its second tilt in three outings, 65-48.

"This is a good team," Scot coach Terry Stogner enthused. "We're small... (Bruce) Bulkin is our biggest man at 6-2. But we played the boards well. We wanted it. It was good for them to feel they could walk away like that."

It was never closer after the first quarter. Following the playmaking of senior guard Lester Washington and the inside shooting of center Bulkin, the Scots pulled out to a 31-21 halftime lead. Bulkin, high point man for the night, and Washington combined for sixteen points in the third quarter to put it away.

"This is especially good after Burlingame," Stogner said, referring to the Scots' only loss. "They have to prove they're worth it, and they are."

Hassapakis didn't share Stogner's enthusiasm. The Bearcats beat John O'Connell Technical High School of San Francisco 58-51 in their first outing this year, but it wasn't easy going.

The 'Cats, confused by the Bearcats' enthusiastic press and unable to work the ball inside, got only two baskets in the first quarter and trailed, 15-7.

In the second quarter, the three-forward, two-guard offense started to function rustily. Calvin Swann, who was moved from forward to guard this year and still doesn't know the plays, called the shots as the Cats outscored O'Connell 17-10 and left the court trailing by a point.

"We're still not a team," Hassapakis said. "We had a bad case of sophomoreitis."

Team or no team, the Cats started the second half hot, getting the inside pass and doing a fair job on the boards. 6-2 senior pivotman Dirk Sorenson, high point man for San Mateo, teamed with Swann to spark an 18-point fourth quarter, taking the edge off a one man O'Connell rally by guard Wallace Gans. Gans, who led all scorers with 20 markers, netted 10 of them in the last seven minutes.

Canada, Rams And Skyline Head Team

Western Junior College Soccer champion Canada, along with runnerup City College of San Francisco and third place Skyline, completely dominated the 1969 All-Conference soccer team, as released by the WJCS coaches today.

The three teams combined to account for nine of the 11 berths, with College of San Mateo and Diablo Valley picking up the remaining two.

Skyline, also in its first year of competition, had goalie Len Beattie, back Ashok Kumar and Jaime Arrevalo, a forward, named to the all-star team.

Leading CCSF's contingent were back Alberto Soares and forwards Jose Tobar and Harry Best. Completing the first team were Mohammad Hoosman of Diablo Valley and Eudaldo Di Silva of San Mateo.

CSM's Mario Bernardini and Germano DiLorenzo were second team selections, as were Jose Sandoral of Canada and Nicholas Nicholas of Skyline.

Shark Wrestlers Win Tournament

Coach Neil Laughlin's Oceana Sharks recorded the highest score in North Peninsula League history in winning the annual NPL novice wrestling tournament over the weekend.

The Sharks, competing in the tournament at Terra Nova High which drew over 300 entries, rolled up 143 points, with El Camino High finishing a distant second with 98 points. Half Moon Bay was third and Westmoor fourth.

Oceana's Syl Carlsen took a first place with a pin, while Frank Tse won the 138-pound final on a decision. Sharks gaining runnerup honors included Ted Tanaka, Jim Wagner, Dean Harris and Rich Atkinson.

Warriors Host Cage Tourney

The first annual South San Francisco High School Frosh-Soph Basketball Tourney will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at South San Francisco High. In addition to SSF, the participating teams will be El Camino High, Rioridan High, St. Ignatius High, Crestmoor, San Mateo, Mills and Burlingame. Games will run continuously each day, starting at 3:30 p.m.

Talk About Injury-Prone! Jim Henry, a great forward for South San Francisco High School four years ago, is attempting to play his senior year at Oregon but he may never make it. Very early in the practice season, when he had firmly installed himself in the starting unit, he was sidelined with a deep cut in his hand. Then after that healed he just started to get back into shape when a mild form of mononucleosis hit him and out of the lineup he went again.

Then against Portland University he sustained a gash to his shoulder when his eye challenged someone's elbow. It was a mismatch. He was supposed to undergo minor surgery last week to repair the damage around his eye but we haven't heard the results yet. It's been one of those tough openers so far!

Bulldogs Need Miracle

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

The College of San Mateo basketball team enters the annual Modesto Holiday tournament today with a genuine Christmas Miracle seemingly only hope for salvation.

Long on prayers, but short on tangible forces, the Bulldogs meet unbeaten Los Angeles City College in the opening 12:30 p.m. game of the double elimination tournament.

"Los Angeles and Compton JC are considered the two top junior college basketball teams in the state," CSM coach Jack Avina woefully commented.

The Neutral Corner

By JERRY LITTELL

PAY ATTENTION, prep football fans. You will get one more shot before we enter completely in basketball, wrestling etc., etc. That final blurb comes this Thursday when the Times announces its San Mateo County Football Team of 1969, a team made up of the finest area has to offer. And isn't that a neat way to make a few more enemies of parents, coaches and overlooked jocks?

THERE SEEMS LITTLE DOUBT that the West Catholic Athletic League will once again dominate basketball action in the Central Coast Section this year. As you might remember, Rioridan won the title last year by upending both Aragon and South San Francisco High Schools in the area playoffs.

This season, so far as we have been able to track down the numerous and well-spread practice encounters, the WCAL has about a 37-3 record. One of those two losses was Serra's two-point loss to Lowell (about which we had rather mixed emotions as we spent our own prep periods in the hallowed halls at Hayes and Masonic in the City — Benny Neff lives!!)

The WCAL also won three prep tourneys just this past week with Rioridan taking its own invitational, Bellarmine edging Woodside for the James Lick title and Sacred Heart winning the Amador Classic. Not a bad week's effort — 2-0 in three tourneys.

Then, also, Serra went up to Sacramento and made mince-meat out of two supposedly rough schools there, clobbering La Sierra with a 110-point outing. This, too, as far as we can tell, is a new CCS scoring record.

We remember about three prep games in which the winning club went over 100 points but never as high as 110. If any coaches can recall such a total let us know. Like we said, the WCAL might just be the roughest league around. Some of those teams that won't make the league playoffs might be better than a few of the other leagues' champions.

WE HOPE AS MANY AS POSSIBLE will get out to see some of the action in the El Camino Invitational which runs tomorrow through Saturday. There are some great individuals to be viewed. Kevin Restani of Rioridan and Pinky Smith of Jeff, to name just a pair) and it should be an exciting preview to the upcoming conference schedules.

We remember the tournament from its inception four years ago. In those days there were just four teams, about 14 people in the stands and little enthusiasm because of its mini-size. The past year, however, we felt the tourney really blossomed to its present position as one of the major showcases for prep cagers in the entire bay area.

Fond memories come back — the then-Camino coach Warren Hagberg doing double and triple duty. Coaching. Sweeping the floors at halftime and taking tickets. The refreshment center that had a few stale candy bars and warm cups of coke.

But today, ah, we have the Weight Room for all the Free-loaders. That's where Camino spreads forth a table-setting that is the highlight of the affair. If one doesn't mind the faint odor of human exertion filtering forth from the weight machine in the corner, a person could spend many a halftime and between-game interval within those confines.

Naturally, it developed a nickname — Casa de Maldonado — named after a once-great Spanish teacher at Camino who holds the tournament record for eating three and one-half hard-roll sandwiches in a little under 17 minutes.

The pre-tourney publicity lists "graduated basketball greats" from St. Ignatius such as Pete Newell, Bob Portman, Fred LaCour, Kevin O'Shea and Rene Herrerias. (Herrerias? We didn't know Ignatius had yet been cannonized back then.) Anyway, drop around. It will be worth it.

Salute To Chamber Slated

A salute to chamber work accomplished in 1969 will highlight the January 17 installation meeting of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner, scheduled for the Hilton Inn, also will honor the outgoing and incoming president and retiring board of directors.

In 1969, the chamber, with Harold Highsmith as its president, balanced the budget and reached an all-time record in membership—209 members.

During their December board meeting, the directors approved the proposed 1970 budget as prepared by Jack Fisher, a certified public accountant, and Chamber Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin.

The proposed budget includes an increase in dues on a sliding scale of $5-$10-$15-$20-$25.

It also was proposed at the meeting that the immediate past president, and merchants' division president (providing he is a member of the chamber and acceptable to the board) become members of the executive board.

This proposal will be voted on at the January 13 breakfast meeting. If approved, it will be written into the bylaws.

In other business, the chamber members learned that the 1970 business directory may not be distributed until the first of the year due to printer delays and other "unforeseen circumstances."

Files Claim For Jail Treatment

William Muller, the former El Granada surveyor who spent 126 days in County Jail on a contempt of court citation, has filed a claim against the county, complaining about the treatment he received in jail and demanding $100,000 damages.

The claim was scheduled to come before the County Board of Supervisors today. A lawsuit making similar accusations and arising out of a previous stay in jail is pending in Superior Court.

Muller, acting as his own lawyer, has been involved in a court battle of some 17 years' standing with his ex-wife, Lelah, over some Coastside property. Superior Court Judge Frank W. Rose required him to sign papers dropping the long court case as the price for his release from jail.

In his claim against the county, Muller contends that he was falsely arrested and imprisoned on a "void, nugatory and corrupt judgment of contempt." He complained, among other things, that the jail lacked facilities for him to work on legal papers; failed to provide adequate medical attention; performed "unauthorized extraction of teeth"; kept his eye glasses from him until his release; provided "extremely poor lighting, preventing reading, writing and seeing"; allowed "inordinate and untrouled television and radio noise to prevent thinking"; caused him to lose 75 pounds.

Prowlers Shoot Dog

A pair of armed burglars that attempted to rob a house on Los Olivos Avenue in Daly City early on Tuesday fled the house empty handed after shooting the family watchdog twice in the stomach.

David Rodriguez, 27, and Phillip Michaels, 31, of 227 Los Olivos Avenue told police they heard their dog barking shortly after 2 a.m. and went to investigate.

The dog had cornered one of the two prowlers when the intruder pulled out a gun and shot the dog twice, hitting it in the stomach.

He then raised the gun and pointed it in the direction of Rodriguez and Michaels who ran into a bedroom, locked the door and fled the house through a rear window, police said.

Parade To Highlight Benefit Show

A colorful automobile serpentine through downtown South San Francisco and its neighborhood shopping centers Saturday will call attention to the benefit film showing of "Hello Dolly" on Friday.

The near-premiere of the film at the Century 21 Theatre in Oakland next Friday night will help send members of the El Camino High School stage band and other performers to West Germany next spring.

Members of the band and others in the Europe-bound troupe, their parents and friends will make up the automobile parade.

The group will form at El Camino High School on Old Mission Road at noon, proceed on Grand Avenue through the downtown area, follow Airport Boulevard to Baden and Baden to El Camino, where it will circle the White Front Store and the Brentwood Shopping Center.

From Brentwood, the cars will travel north on El Camino to the Buri Buri Shopping Center, further on El Camino to the Winston Manor Shopping Center, and finally to the West Park Shopping Center.

Coast Realtors Seat New Staff

The Pacific Coastside Board of Realtors installed its 1970 officers at the annual Christmas Dinner and Installation Dance December 12 at Nick's Restaurant.

The outgoing president, Realtor John Geary, turned over his gavel to Sandy Kasitz. Other officers are Geary, vice-president, and Karl Strutz, secretary-treasurer.

Included on the guest list were members of the North San Mateo County Board of Realtors.
